TANKERS COLLIDE

ARRESTED . . . Carmichael, back, Baines.

Bay Holocaust Kills 20 Men

. . . TWO TUGBOATS BURN

New York (AP)—Two tankers collided in New York harbor Thursday, bursting into flames that towered as high as a 10-story building and spreading a sea of fire that engulfed and destroyed two tugboats.

The Coast Guard said it had confirmed that at least 20 persons perished in the holocaust at the narrow entrance to Newark Bay between New Jersey and Staten Island, where the British tanker Alva Cape and the American oiler Texaco Massachusetts came together.

"Even the water was afire," an eyewitness ashore reported.

69 Known Alive

Of the 100 crew members aboard the tankers and tugs, the Coast Guard listed eight unaccounted for. Sixty-nine known survivors were taken to hospitals in New York and New Jersey.

Among the dead were the skipper of the Texaco Massachusetts, Capt. Richard F. Pender, and one of his crewmen, Firemen F. P. Chantre. Other victims included two tugboat men.

The British tanker bore the brunt of the damage, and was reduced to hulk of twisted metal. The American ship was less violently damaged and eventually was towed away.

Silvertro Tursi, 39, owner of a gas station on Staten Island, looked on in horror at the aftermath of the collision, when a series of minor explosions set the two tankers ablaze. He said:

"People were jumping into the water. As they began swimming flames encircled them. I could see these flashes as they were jumping in."

Kill Van Kull

Rescue vessels braved solid sheets of flame to pluck survivors from the blazing surface of the Kill Van Kull, a 2,000-foot-wide channel where the crash occurred.

A disaster of frightening proportions apparently was averted, however, when firefighters, impeded by dense smoke, were able to contain the fire aboard the Alva Cape without its setting off 143,000 barrels of volatile naphtha aboard the British vessel.

Until the danger of an all-out explosion in the world's greatest harbor abated, a disaster alert was placed in effect and shore installations and homes were ordered to brace for a possible blast.

The Kill Van Kull connects upper New York Bay with Newark Bay. The collision occurred about 500 feet west of the Bayonne Bridge, which links Staten Island and New Jersey near the entrance to Newark Bay.

The Alva Cape, built in 1953, is out of London, an 11,252-ton tanker, 546 feet long. She was coming into Newark Bay.

The Texaco Massachusetts is 25,000-tons and 604 feet long. Built in 1963, her home port is New York. She was outbound from Bayonne, N.J., for Gulf ports and carried no petroleum.

Police Defied; Tent Up

Greenwood, Miss. (AP)—More than 1,000 shouting Negroes defied police by erecting a tent for the Mississippi civil rights marchers in a city park Thursday night.

The tension eased when the city yielded use of the site. Police and highway patrolmen had positioned themselves around the park, billy clubs in their hands.

An earlier attempt to place the tent in a Negro school yard resulted in the jailing of three Negro leaders.

After spending more than seven hours in the city jail, charged with trespassing, the men were freed under $100 bond each. No trial date was set. The three went immediately to the campsite in Broad Street Park, where more than 500 Negroes waited for them to speak.

The head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, Stokely Carmichael, one of the more militant march leaders and one of those who had been jailed, started the crowd chanting:

"We want black power! We want black power!"

Then he said:

"Everybody owns our neighborhood except us. We outnumber the whites in this county; we want black power. That's what we want. Black power!

"All they have in this county is white power. They take black boys to fight in Viet Nam. We shouldn't go fight in Viet Nam. Our fight is here!"

In Majority

Negroes outnumber whites 2-1 in LeFlore County. Greenwood is the county seat.

The marchers had come 14 miles from Holcomb — and were five miles away from Greenwood—when the original problem over placing the tent arose. They abandoned the march and were brought to Greenwood by truck, intending to take up the walk toward Jackson again Friday at the spot they left off.

When the park site first was refused them, the negro marchers became restive. The campsite was peaceful after the city allowed use of the park.

Gov. Paul Johnson said in an afternoon press conference in Jackson the highway patrol force that has accompanied the marchers for 11 days will be reduced from 20 to four men. He said local police should take over.

'No Wet-Nursing'

"It has turned into a voter registration campaign," Johnson said. "We have had many campaigns in the state. They do without guards or any protection. I expect this to take the same course. We are not going to wet-nurse a bunch of showmen all over the country."

Those arrested besides Carmichael were Bob Smith, a SNCC worker, and Bruce Baines, an official of the Congress of Racial Equality.

"What in hell are you going to do?" said City Police Commissioner B. A. (Buff) Hammond after ordering the arrest. "I told them they couldn't set up those tents and they went right on doing it."

Road Trouble

On the highway, Green and the marchers ran into more trouble.

Several carloads of young whites drove back and forth alongside the procession, shouting "look at that black boy walk!" and "you mean that nigger?"

For 20 minutes the marchers ignored the youths. The highway patrol kept prodding the cars on. Finally, Green halted one of the slow-moving cars. He shouted to police: "We've had enough of that. He's been harassing us. I want this stopped."

Patrolmen stepped between Green and the car and said: "You get back in line and let us handle this." They ordered the white driver to wait at a side road.

The young man, wearing maroon shorts and a University of Alabama shirt, refused to give newsmen his name.

Wallace His Leader

"Why are you protecting these marchers?" he asked a highway patrolman.

"Call your president," said the officer.

"I can't call my president," the youth said. "He's not in office yet. He's Gov. (George) Wallace."

Reinforcements To Hue; City Under Martial Law

Saigon (AP)—Premier Nguyen Cao Ky rushed 500 more paratroopers to Hue Friday in an effort to wrest control of that northern Buddhist center from rebel elements.

With Ky's 1,000 airborn soldiers and 600 riot police in firm possession of about one quarter of Hue, the national security forces declared the city under martial law.

Protesting against Ky's crackdown, the Buddhist Institute in Saigon called for a three-day general strike to start Saturday. Such strike calls have not succeeded in the recent past.

Legalized

Hue has been under virtual military rule for the past week, but the declaration gave the situation legal status.

Anti-government elements smashed windshields of 12 military trucks during the night, but the city was otherwise relatively quiet.

In Saigon, a terrorist mine exploded at a bus stop, injuring 15 persons, including 10 U.S. servicemen.

Paratroopers in Hue opened fire on dissident infantrymen Thursday, killing one and wounding at least three.

That didn't settle matters. Hard-core insurgents of the 1st Vietnamese Division, of wavering loyalties for months, barricaded themselves in a walled citadel of the former imperial capital. They shot at five Western newsmen who approached the gates to interview them, but hit none.

Threaten Advisers

U.S. advisers withdrew from a tactical operation against the Viet Cong near Quang Tri Thursday after they were threatened by pro-Buddhist soldiers.

The advisers were attached to the 1st Regiment of the dissident-ridden Vietnamese 1st Division. Some of them were threatened at gunpoint en route to dinner in an American compound.

The 1st Regiment was recalled from the operation and was replaced by the regional and popular Vietnamese forces.

U.S. CASUALTIES 883, EXCEED VIETS' AGAIN

Washington (UPI)—U.S. officials announced Thursday American forces in South Viet Nam sustained 883 casualties last week, including 142 killed. It was the sixth consecutive week in which U.S. casualties exceeded those of the South Vietnamese.

The U.S. losses last week also marked the third heaviest battle casualties ever suffered in any week of the war.

The heaviest battle casualties occurred during the week ending May 21 when 146 Americans were killed and 820 wounded. The second heaviest losses were sustained during the week ending March 19, with 80 U.S. troops killed and 816 wounded.

479 Viet Losses

A spokesman said 142 Americans were killed, 741 wounded and one was missing in the week ending June 11. During the same period South Vietnamese forces suffered a total of 479 casualties, including 151 killed.

The American losses in the previous week were 109 killed and 636 wounded while the Vietnamese had 121 killed and 219 wounded.

The rise in casualties for both sides last week apparently reflected the bloody fighting in the central highlands where the U.S. 101st Airborne Division mauled a North Vietnamese regiment in "Operation-Hawthorne."

Red Losses Rose

Communist losses last week rose even more sharply than those of the allies with a reported 1,240 killed. The Communists suffered 902 troops killed in the previous week.

Military spokesmen said South Korean, Australian and New Zealand losses last week were 6 killed and 514 wounded.

The "kill ratio" was about 4 to 1 in favor of the allies.

Under the wrongful death statute, a settlement of $48,000 was made in favor of the estate of John H. Stevens Jr., killed when an overhead ride at the fair collapsed on Sept. 5, 1965.

A sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary E. Stevens, died Sept. 12 of injuries suffered in the same accident. A settlement of $29,000 was made in favor of her estate.

Held responsible for three deaths and many injuries was the owner and operator of the ride, William T. Collins Shows, Inc.

County Judge Albert Maust authorized Clarence Stevens, administrator of the two estates, to enter into settlements with the show's insurance company.

City Seeks Court Reversal Of Liquor Commission Act

. . . DAVIS FILES SUIT IN ZONING SHIFT

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The City of Lincoln appealed to Lancaster District Court Thursday for a reversal of the State Liquor Control Commission's order granting a package liquor license to J. Robert Davis at 2300 Winthrop Road.

The suit was filed immediately after Davis filed a writ of error action asking that the court vacate a May 16 City of Lincoln order changing the zoning of the area from "G" local business to "A-2" single family which would eliminate a package liquor business in that locale.

Davis contends that the City of Lincoln recommended denial of his application for a license which was granted by the Liquor Commission May 4, and on April 25 the City Council introduced an ordinance to rezone the vicinity back to "A-2" single family.

The petition states that the City-County Planning Commission recommended that the change in zone be denied, but on May 16 Mayor Dean Petersen held a hearing "without public notice" and the ordinance was passed.

He alleges that the only public notice was one for a hearing May 23 which was not held and that the lack of "sufficient and proper" notice for hearing plus the action being "arbitrary, unreasonable and discriminatory" makes the passage of the ordinance to change the zoning "void and illegal."

Davis contends that the City of Lincoln is "attempting to control and govern issuance of package liquor licenses at specific locations which is prohibited by law."

In the city's action, the City of Lincoln contends that the Liquor Control Commission's issuance of the license "circumvents lawful authority of the city to regulate the transfer of location of retail licenses for alcoholic liquor."

The Liquor Commission's order is "based on erroneous findings and conclusions of fact and law insofar as it found the general policy for alcoholic liquor within the city to be unreasonable and arbitrary," the City contends.

The petition states that the City of Lincoln recommended denial of the license and the commission allowed the applicant to apply for a new license which would be issued upon the surrender of the license previously held "despite the opposition of the city to this procedure."

"The land use regulations and zoning of property would not and do not permit operation of an outlet for retail sale of alcoholic beverages . . as provided in a City Ordinance passed May 16 which was in full force and effect and controls the land use of the property," the city alleges.

The most-likely-to-be-realized ambition yet was expressed by a young college coed who was overheard saying: "I don't want no scholarship."

18 Marines Heroically Tangle With 250 Reds

Howard

Saigon (AP)—Fighting with bayonets, knives and rocks after their ammunition dwindled, 18 U.S. Marines guarding an observation post on a rocky hilltop in the coastal highlands battled off 250 Viet Cong until reinforcements routed the enemy early Thursday.

Five of the 18 were killed and 11 wounded. But Leatherneck patrols found 45 of the enemy dead. Trail marks indicated others — perhaps caught by napalm strikes of warplanes summoned by the beleaguered post — had been draged away in the darkness.

The post commander, S Sgt. Jimmie Howard of San Diego, Calif., a veteran of 16 years in the Marine Corps who was hit three times in the Korean War, suffered a back wound in the last-man stand.

From a hospital bed at the Marine base in Chu Lai, 330 miles northeast of Saigon, Howard said, "It was the longest night of my life."

The heroic stand of the 18 Marines, a reconnaissance team of the 1st Marine Division, was made 25 miles northwest of Chu Lai. It brought Howard, 36, his fourth Purple Heart.

Maj. Gen. Lewis W. Fields, division commander, presented Howard the medal in the hospital, where his condition was described as good. Tears glinted in the sergeant's eyes as he accepted it.

Howard told correspondents he had only seven men left who were able to pull a trigger and five of these were among the wounded when Marine reinforcements arrived in helicopters and drove off the attackers.

One of the relief craft was hit by Viet Cong fire and forced down with two casualties.

Medic Hero

Among heroes of the action was Navy medical corpsman Billy Holmes of Madison, Tenn. Spotting a guerrilla dragging away a wounded Marine, he launched a one-man attack and pulled back the wounded man.

Howard said his team hurled rocks against the Viet Cong in the latter stages of the fight because "we wanted them to think we still had grenades."

"When the reinforcements got to us," he said, "we had just eight rounds of ammunition left."

He said the attack started just before 1 a.m.

"They lobbed 60mm mortar at us and then opened up with machine guns and small arms," he said. "From then on it was Katie-bar-the-door.

Gopher Play

"We played gopher when they charged up the hill. We got down on the deck (ground). They had us surrounded and were coming up the hill."

Howard radioed an appeal for air support, answered by Marine jet planes and armed helicopters. The jets strewed flaming napalm on communist positions and the helicopters strafed them with rockets and machine guns.

The troop-carrying helicopters landed 300 Marines about 6 a.m., 100 yards from the base of the hill. They were pinned down for a while by machine gun fire. After an air strike failed to silence the gun, a squad of Marines swept around the machine gunners' right flank and they fled.

The reinforcing Marines, checking over the enemy dead, found some who had been bayoneted by Howard's men in hand-to-hand fighting. They seized two Viet Cong machine guns, nine Chinese-made rifles and eight carbines.

Howard told newsmen the Viet Cong were not a ragmuff outfit, but their best "ain't good enough."

Such Raids Looked For More Often

Saigon (AP) — The attack on the Marine outpost was in a pattern of raids on isolated units that U.S. officers expect the communists to use more in the face of the hazards of massing large units under mounting allied pressure.

A spokesman pointed out Thursday that American troops alone mounted 25 offensive operations of battalion size or larger in the latest weekly battle report. This was the highest figure for the war. Including South Korean, Australian and South Vietnamese operations, the total number of such sweeps was 39, also an alltime high.

Thus even though over-all contact is occasionally light, as it was Thursday, the picture is one of mounting pressure in the field.

The war at sea and in the air was similarly intensifying.

American pilots over North Viet Nam dodged nine Soviet-built SAM missiles in widespread strikes Wednesday, but lost two planes to conventional antiaircraft fire. These brought to 265 the number of planes downed north of the border.

The rash of missiles followed the previous day's naval air strikes only eight miles from the Red port of Haiphong—well within what fliers call the missile envelope and the closest raid yet to the Haiphong-Hanoi nerve center of North Viet Nam.

Military headquarters also reported the U.S. Navy was moving in closer and closer to offer more and more supporting fire for ground troops. The latest weekly battle report showed 6,100 rocket and artillery shells fired in support by the Navy, another high for the war.

Mrs. Howard Jimmie Jr.

Wife Is Worrier

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—"I'm always on pins and needles, but he's a Marine and he has a job to do," said Mrs. Jimmie Howard Thursday, when she was told of her husband's heroism in Viet Nam.

"I know he's such a good Marine," Mrs. Howard said. "I'm not surprised that he led them like that."

S Sgt. Howard and his wife have one son and five daughters ranging in age from 5 to 14. The oldest, Jimmie Jr., finished junior high school Thursday and Mrs. Howard was preparing to attend the graduation when the phone rang.

"He is very qualified in the Marines," she said. "I was real proud of him recently when he wrote that he was a platoon leader."

The Howard home has had its share of anxious moments in the past.

"Several times I got telegrams and I was always worried where he got it or how he got it. The telegrams never tell. Then he would call from a hospital. He got hit in the head once with shrapnel in Korea," she said.

She said he had not been wounded previously in Viet Nam.

Silver Star

Mrs. Howard said her husband received a Silver Star for valor in the Battle of Bunker Hill in Korea.

Howard went to Viet Nam just over 10 months ago and has kept his family posted on his activities through clippings from newspapers in Viet Nam.

"We have so many clippings," she said. "How dangerous! How close they come when they go into a tunnel with Viet Cong in it. I just couldn't imagine. It's real dangerous. I don't know how he dares."

Superhighway Chief Prefers Country Roads

Washington (AP)—The man responsible for the nation wide system of super highways confessed Thursday that he likes to do his driving on country roads.

Rex M. Whitton, federal highway administrator, said "I enjoy driving on the little roads more than on the freeways."

But, he added, "I get lost on old country roads." He said they do not have adequate signs.

Whitton commented at a meeting of state legislative leaders.

Theater Not Ready

Moscow (UPI)—The American Ballet Theater troupe, which opened a six-week Soviet tour here, was forced to cancel its Minsk appearance when it was announced the new theater there was not ready for use.

Rusk-Chen Meet Urged By Mansfield

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP) — Sen. Mike Mansfield proposed Thursday that Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi meet to explore peace for Viet Nam. The State Department cautionously encouraged the idea but expressed doubt Peking would agree.

The Senate Democratic leader offered his suggestion in a New York speech against a background of revived talk of efforts to turn the Vietnamese war toward the conference table.

A newsman noted to Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey that a couple of months ago when Mansfield suggested an Asian peace conference involving the United States and mainland China, Peking reacted by calling the idea a fraud and a trick. The reporter asked McCloskey if he thinks the prospects are better for this proposal and he replied.

"We'll just wait and see."

Willing To Go

But McCloskey reaffirmed that Rusk stands by his often-stated willingness "to go to Geneva tomorrow" to meet with anyone from the communist side who is prepared to discuss peace in Southeast Asia.

Mansfield said the war in Southeast Asia is threatening to wind up as a war between the United States and Communist China as the Korean conflict did 15 years ago.

For this reason, he said, there is need for efforts to establish a direct contact between Washington and Peking on the problem of peace.

Mansfield spoke a day after a flurry of new peace probe reports, the most intriguing of which involves a new Canadian mission to Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam.

Expert

It has been confirmed in Ottawa that Chester Ronning, a special envoy and expert in Far Eastern matters, had arrived in the North Vietnamese capital on his second mission this year.

No one here disputes that his task is to take new soundings on the North Vietnamese attitude toward negotiations.

The big unanswered question is whether the timing of his trip is linked in any way to indications that the North Vietnamese now are more interested in exploring in diplomatic secrecy the possibilities of a peaceful settlement.

In Paris, meanwhile, reports were published that there is a swelling interest in peace in Hanoi and a feeling on the part of at least some North Vietnamese leaders that the time for negotiation is ripening. U.S. authorities, though deeply interested in such reports, privately profess deep skepticism.

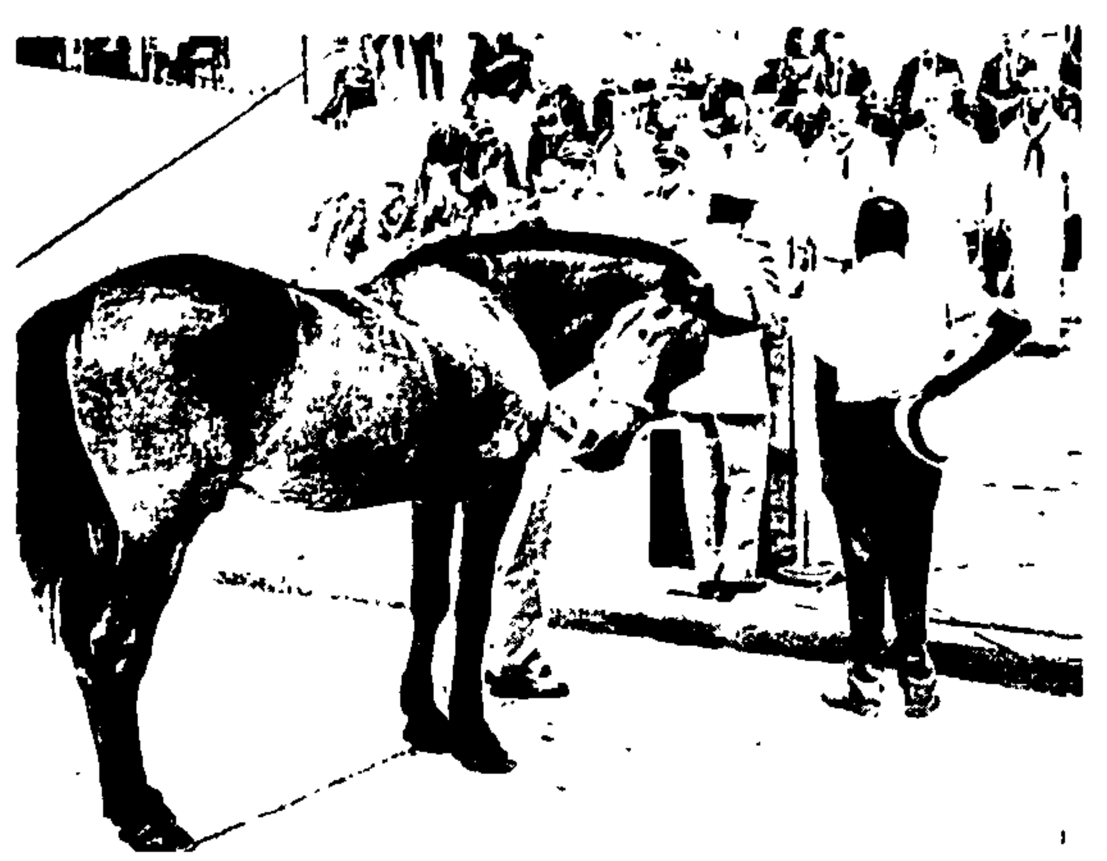
Secret Net Cranked Up

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — Eight satellites including seven to speed secret military messages between Washington and strategic bases worldwide — successfully-sprung into orbit late Thursday to start the Defense Department's first satellite communications network.

The pack of jam-proof communications spacecraft — the first members of the military's satellites communication (Satcom) system—vaulted into space as the payload on an Air Force Titan 3 rocket's fourth and most successful test flight.

The Air Force said all the satellites "appear to be operating normally."

After more than six hours of shifting through space, including three orbit changes and two long coasting cruises by the Titan 3's acrobatic last stage, the Air Force said, all eight satellites sprang into random orbits at different speeds as planned.



DEXTER LOOKS EMBARRASSED

The only horse in the U. S. Navy, a 32-year-old brown gelding named Dexter, looks embarrassed as he retired with full naval honors in Philadelphia Thursday. Dexter started out in the Army, then turned sailor. He has been pulling a trash cart at the naval home. He was given a certificate of honorable discharge, but he didn't want to leave. He protested as he was loaded in a horse ambulance for the ride to a country farm for retired animals.

Long Pull Looms For Aid Bills

Washington (AP) — President Johnson's foreign aid program was approved by House and Senate committees with only minor money cuts Thursday, but in such widely varying form as to assure a long struggle ahead.

Johnson asked that Congress authorize the program for five years, saying this would make for more intelligent planning.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted for a two-year authorization; the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for one.

Both committees voted to authorize more than $3.3 billion a year, compared with approximately $3.4 billion Johnson sought.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he is not certain he will support his group's two bills in the final showdown.

Chairman Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., of the House Foreign Affairs Committee conceded the proposed two-year authorization faces a tough fight in the House.

Where's Castro?

Washington (AP)—The State Department took official notice Thursday of reported speculation in Cuba over the whereabouts of Premier Fidel Castro and said the Havana regime faces "growing popular dissatisfaction."

"It is a fact that Castro uncharacteristically has not been in the foreground of events since May 1. This has led to widespread speculation inside Cuba about his whereabouts," Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey added.

McCloskey said he made his comments because he had received questions about a New York Times dispatch from Washington saying that there was serious speculation about Castro's status because Castro had not recently been seen in Cuba.

Carefully Drawn

The press officer, issuing what was obviously a carefully considered statement, declined to say that he had evidence of a change in Castro's position.

McCloskey's statement indicated that State Department experts on Cuba found it extremely odd that Castro had been out of public sight for so long, and particularly that he had not played grandstand roles in connection with incidents last month between U.S. and Cuban soldiers along the periphery of the Guantanamo Naval Base, and the devastation in Cuba resulting this month from Hurricane Alma.

The State Department's report came as a surprise in Miami Cuban refugee circles, because there had been no speculation there on Castro's whereabouts. Nor had any been reported there from Cuba.

Reportedly Toured

On June 9, news dispatches from Havana said Castro toured areas of Cuba stricken by Hurricane Alma and met with Communist Party officials to assess the damage.

And on May 29, it was reported from Havana that Castro had accused the United States of lying about Cuban infiltration of the Guantanamo base.

"Whatever Castro's present status within the Cuban party hierarchy," McCloskey said, "the fact remains the regime itself is faced with growing popular dissatisfaction, resulting from repressive methods by the government and from its economic and other failures."

3 Firemen Overcome By Fumes

Three Lincoln firemen were overcome by the noxious fumes of an antique fire extinguisher and were taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital in a 10:30 fire alarm Thursday night.

Frank Truax, Douglas Wells, and Hobart Boswell of the Lincoln City Fire Department were released from the hospital shortly after their arrival.

The fire occurred in the basement of the home of Elmer R. Powell of 4200 B when a sunlamp was left on long enough to ignite some plastic toys in front of it. Powell's son, James, 20, put the fire out with an old-style, carbon tetra chloride fire extinguisher, but fled the basement when he realized that he couldn't breathe.

The three firemen, unaware of the fumes in the basement, entered it to put out any remains of the flames and were overcome.

Some 235 cars comprise this fancily-titled overflow from his main business, known less pretentiously as "Beard's Junk Yard." The sign's only purpose is to tease some friends in an adjacent housing development. "No politics intended whatsoever," said the former city councilman. Inert Shell Found By Tavern

Omaha (AP) — An explosive which appeared to be either a mortar shell or a light artillery shell was found on the back stoop of the Starlite Lounge at 45th and Cuming Streets Thursday, but it was removed without incident, and was later found to be inert.

Harold Weinstein, owner of the Starlite, said a customer, Bud Reiman, saw the shell on the back stoop of the lounge about 9 a.m. and immediately dropped it into a bucket of water employes were using for mopping the floors

Weinstein said after one look he called Offutt Air Force Base and a bomb disposal squad came and removed the shell.

Weinstein said the air base officer in charge of the squad told him the shell appeared to be live, however, examination proved it harmless. He said it appeared that the shell had been tossed up on the stoop by a passerby.

Capt. Hy Bosch, in charge of the Offutt Bomb Squad, said the object was a part of a mortar shell or grenade but it had no explosives of any kind in it and there was no danger attached to it. He said it was probably a war souvenir.

Capt. Bosch said it was of Japanese origin.

Inert Shell Found By Tavern

Omaha (AP) — An explosive which appeared to be either a mortar shell or a light artillery shell was found on the back stoop of the Starlite Lounge at 45th and Cuming Streets Thursday, but it was removed without incident, and was later found to be inert.

Harold Weinstein, owner of the Starlite, said a customer, Bud Reiman, saw the shell on the back stoop of the lounge about 9 a.m. and immediately dropped it into a bucket of water employes were using for mopping the floors.

Weinstein said after one look he called Offutt Air Force Base and a bomb disposal squad came and removed the shell.

Weinstein said the air base officer in charge of the squad told him the shell appeared to be live, however, examination proved it harmless. He said it appeared that the shell had been tossed up on the stoop by a passerby.

Capt. Hy Bosch, in charge of the Offutt Bomb Squad, said the object was a part of a mortar shell or grenade but it had no explosives of any kind in it and there was no danger attached to it. He said it was probably a war souvenir.

Capt. Bosch said it was of Japanese origin.

Labor And Foreign Policy

By MARQUIS CHILDS

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is out of town briefly. Today's article is by the well-known Washington columnist and news analyst, Marquis Childs.)

WASHINGTON — The American labor movement has once again cut across America's declared foreign policy with an act bewildering to organized labor in the rest of the non-communist world. The AFL-CIO delegates walked out of the International Labor Organization conference when the head of the Polish delegation was elected president by a vote of 184 to 183.

Man Behind The Man

American business representatives stayed on, as did those from government. But following the George Meany line, American labor, of all the 106 nations represented at Geneva, refused to abide by the outcome of a free election to an office largely formal and procedural. While the move was made without Meany's sanction, it is of a piece with the dictates of the man who sits behind him and calls the foreign policy moves. Jay Lovestone is a figure as remote and mysterious as the great Khan and on the issues of foreign policy, almost as absolute in the labor movement. Once a communist, he became, as have so many others, a professional anti-communist. His hold on the 72-year-old AFL-CIO president and the hierarchy of aging moguls around him is so strong that no interference or even criticism is tolerated

An important initiative of the Kennedy and Johnson administrations is the opening of new avenues to the communist bloc countries. This is in the belief that Moscow's grip is weakening and signs of independence should be encouraged. It is recognition of the fact that America's allies in Western Europe are drawing closer to the East through greatly expanded trade and cultural exchanges.

The AFL-CIO has often tried to frustrate this initiative. The International Longshoremen's Association announced they would not load ships with wheat for the Soviet Union and the communist bloc countries. It took prolonged effort at the highest level to reach a compromise that made some shipments possible.

The longshoremen have repeatedly proclaimed their refusal to unload cargoes from communist countries, no matter how small and negligible in the total of American trade these shipments were.

Walter Reuther, second in command in the AFL-CIO, has kept silent even though he has been opposed to much of this arbitrary behavior. He has wanted to maintain a direct clash with Meany, whom he had hoped to succeed in the No. 1 post. His chances seemed to depend on preventing an open break in the uneasy alliance between the old-line unions and the new industrial unions.

Once Reuther's sharp criticism of the walkout at Geneva became known, the long knives were out. The old-liners in the craft unions can be expected to use the opening to try to deny him the top job, no matter what papering over is done in the immediate aftermath of the dispute.

★

Reuther is 59 years old, and the time is rapidly running out when he might provide the dynamic leadership which most observers feel the AFL-CIO urgently needs. Weighted with the inertia of the past, the organization has failed to adjust to the rapid changes in the labor force. A negligible effort has been put into organizing the increasing mass of white collar workers.

A Symbolic Value

Most of the AFL-CIO chiefs couldn't care less about the International Labor Organization. It has nothing to do with the hard facts of wages, hours and fringe benefits that absorb their time and energy. But as Reuther and others know, the symbolic value of the ILO and the role American labor could play is extremely important in the picture this nation presents to the world The conduct of foreign policy in a democracy is, for the unhappy conductors, like running a race in which every conceivable obstacle is thrown in the way. President Johnson, seeking avenues to the east, recommended changes in the tariff act that would give satellite nations that do not have it favored-nation treatment. This was a bold move in marked contrast to the timidity of only a few years ago. It was vetoed by Chairman Wilbur Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee and is apparently dead for this session of Congress. That is "One Man, One Vote" with a vengeance. It comes just as Italy, France and Britain are making big trade deals with the communist bloc countries.

The widening conflict in Viet Nam is the obvious reason for the failure to make some progress in easing tensions between East and West. The President sent to the Senate a consular treaty with the Soviet Union which had obvious mutual advantages for both powers. The treaty was "vetoed" by J. Edgar Hoover. You pays your money, as was once said of politics here at home, and you makes your choice of your own foreign policy.

The Day Of Discovery

The President's wife has come and gone.

We are left with the pleasantest memories, a knowledge of a day well spent, a clearer view of her national beautification efforts, and the strong resolve we have had to place our state at the top that way.

Everyone enjoyed playing host to Lady Bird and we are certain that she found home folks here. She extended her stay, added an overnight rest at the governor's mansion, then left for her Texas home at midmorning Thursday with radiant goodbyes to everyone.

It was a good party. Nebraska in middle June always has on its best clothes, its smooth greens, its prospering fields, its grassy dells and wooded sections. We couldn't have made it prettier for Mrs. Johnson. The pleasant warmth of the day, the deep blue sky, lots of it, flecked with white, small fleecy clouds completed the setting.

So a Centennial party turned up two great facts. One was our strongest feeling for Nebraska, our deepest resolve to carry on our program to beautify and to make it more attractive to every one. The program which has been going on under the leadership of Governor Morrison is now in high gear. The day gave us the full sense of mission.

And we gained a very influential friend. What we are setting forth to do is close to Mrs. Johnson's heart and Mrs. Johnson is close to the seats of power. We are sure that she will be our great ally in shaping the things that are to come.

We have had lots of good days. But we have never had a better day. It was a very good visit.

The Planes Are Moving

The shoe is beginning to pinch.

Taking President Charles DeGaulle at his word, the U.S. Defense Department has taken early steps toward removal of its NATO defense units from French soil.

The first removal was like pulling a molar without the benefit of novocain and the pain and shock will be felt down deep in the French economy.

Two squadrons of planes, the men who man them, and the materiel necessary for their presence have been ordered out. Henceforth, they will fly from England. With them will go 2,300 airmen, 3,100 dependents and away will go 12 hundred jobs filled by Frenchmen. And that is just the beginning The American military presence includes 30,000 men, 37,000 dependents and 17,300 jobs for French nationals. These plus the fixed investment, the added shipping and services and the payrolls amounts to a fine foreign aid program as well as a defense posture.

Mr. DeGaulle cannot have his cake and eat it, too. In this instance Great Britain will get his slice of cake.

It is useless to deny that our military outlays in Europe have not greatly aided the economies of our allies. The threat of war continues to be only a remote possibility, but the inflowing cash is a daily reality

Instead of vaulting to new national heights it is more probable that Mr. DeGaulle will be busy for some time repairing, if possible, the great hole in the economic structure that will be caused by this military removal.

But that is the problem of the Frenchmen. They will have to get their francs from some other place, if possible.

For Shame

Saipan, Tinian, Kwajalein. Those words will be ever fresh in the minds of present day Americans.

They represent bloodshed, fierce fighting and the onward march of history and American prestige.

They not only represent battle sites, but people, and a whole army of little atolls generally in the equatorial vicinity of the Pacific between Guam and Hawaii. We remember Bikini, too, for the H-bomb tests and for modern garments that hardly qualify as such because there is so little of them.

But perhaps we have forgotten that Bikini is still uninhabitable, though the natives removed from it would like to go back, because the land is no longer dangerously irradiated, but all of the fish and plant life are.

And we have almost forgotten that after World War II the United Nations put this area, called Micronesia, under a Pacific Trust Territory and charged the United States with providing for advancement of the peaceable natives. We maintain substantial military installations there, but our 19 years of trusteeship frankly show poor results. Disease, poverty and token education still hold sway.

Lately, we were stung to action by charges of neglect, lodged by communist bloc countries and we have been stung by damaging reports from the World Health Organization.

Now Interior Secretary Udall has asked for $172 million which he would spend during a five year program for hospital, schools and public utilities.

There should be no question over such a fund.

Micronesia did not come to us hat in hand. Rather we were made trustee because the world believed we would do a good job and we haven't done that. We have a duty.

Nasser's Future Tied To U.S. Food

WASHINGTON—The question of whether to continue feeding President Gamel Abdel Nasser and the United Arab Republic is being debated secretly inside the State Department and is likely to break into the open soon on Capitol Hill. A decision must be made within the next ten days, since Nasser's Food agreement with the United States expires June 30.

Most people don't realize it, but the United States has sent food to Egypt valued at almost double what Russia has contributed to the more widely publicized Aswan dam.

The decision to continue sending food involves much more than merely feeding people. Basically it involves the question of whether or not Nasser is to continue as the head of the so-called United Arab Republic, now no longer united with Syria or any other Arab state.

Diplomatic cables from the Near East report that Nasser is in a precarious political position, and that failure to get American grain would cause street riots, probable rebellion by the army, and his downfall.

The Egyptian army, already smarting over having been led into a military impasse in Yemen, is reported fed up with the debonair colonel who has ruled Egypt since King Farouk was kicked out in 1952. It's even reported that one reason Nasser does not bring his 60,000-man army back from Yemen is the fear that these troops would revolt against him.

On the economic front, Nasser has not been able to pay the French for the first load of French grain delivered under the Franco-Egyptian load agreement.

Egypt receives a total of $700 million in foreign currency per year, including Suez canal tolls of $290 million and 80 million pounds received from the tourist industry. However, it needs far more than this if it is to import basic foodstuffs, including flour, beans, lentils, meat; plus spare parts and a certain amount of machinery.

The United States has subsidized Egypt to the extent of more than $500 million in food since 1954. Last December, however, Congress rebelled at this continued subsidy of an Arab leader who has publicly insulted the United States; so the State Department substituted its long-term agreement for a six-months food loan totaling $55 million, which expires at the end of June.

If it is not renewed, African experts predict Nasser will go the way of other Afro-Asian leaders recently kicked out of office—President Nkrumah of Ghana, President Ben Bella of Algeria, the ruling clique of Nigeria, and President Sukarno of Indonesia, who while not actually dethroned, has been demoted.

Dakota Celebrates Rural Electric Age

COLMAN, S.D.—Ten thousand residents of this virile part of the United States gathered here this week to celebrate a miracle a majority of Americans, who are city slickers, accept as their just due.

What was celebrated here under a vast tent was the still stupendous fact that after centuries of darkness America's farms were given electricity. This was the annual meeting of the Sioux Valley Empire Association, one of the big and lively cooperatives that electrified rural America when the big utility companies wouldn't or couldn't, and when even some of the farmers and ranchers themselves fought against the burial of the kerosene lamp of yore.

Pretty second-generation farm wives shopped glittering appliance booths for the latest word in time-saving, labor-saving and even status-giving gee-gaws that come to life when plugged into the now endless miles of power lines that switch remote areas to urban centers. While they stopped, some of their still-living mothers and grandmothers remembered when an iron was actually made of iron, a six-pound slab of it that had to be heated on a wood stove. And when an evening's entertainment was derived from well-thumbed stereopticon slides, not color-TV, radio and home movies.

Farmers, ranchers and other users of electric power studied over new ways to put the incredible, invisible slave to work—make it pump water to barren lands, automate cow barns, lift, tote, bale, pull, push, and permit one man to keep 25,000 chicks happy without giving vent to a single cluck.

Hard to believe that when the Rural Electrification Administration was set up in 1935, as part of President Roosevelt's revolution, only 11 per cent of U.S. farms had electricity. Today the figure is 99 per cent. When REA started, the public utilities people were charging as much as $3,000 a mile to stretch a line to a customer's acreage.

Cooperatives, put together by people who in some cases were so poor they could pay only $2 of the $5 membership fee, and give a note for the remainder, soon were able to borrow money from REA on easy long-term plans, and the face of America changed more radically in a short time than ever before in her history.

☆ ☆ ☆

"The night the lights came on" is still hailed in many rural regions as an occasion ranking with the stature of such feast days as Christmas and Thanksgiving. Electrical power changed millions of lives instantaneously, ended lonely isolation, provided leisure time that reflected itself in better education, improved public health, cut deep into farm accidents, provided a tremendous shot in the arm for the American economy, made us the breadbasket of the world, won a war, sealed a peace.

Petition To Banish Petitions

By MONA B. PARKER

It wasn't too happy a summer note sounded by Jack Lough in the Albion News, but perhaps it's only a temporary situation and will soon be taken care of . . .

"Kids," he advised, "the swimming pool's leaking and that probably means that it will have to be closed for a short time for repairs."

☆ ☆ ☆

The community of Oxford was looking for someone to take charge of its local pool for the months ahead. One of the applicants was reported to be six feet and eight inches tall. The Standard said he was asked if he could swim, and replied, "No, but I can wade like crazy."

☆ ☆ ☆

As with all things with price tag attached, inflation has come to the good fairy in charge of fallen-out teeth . . .

A nine-year-old Hastings youngster showed her grandmother a tiny bit of ivory that had just emerged from her mouth with a little help in the wiggle and jiggle department. The grandmother, as from time immemorial, suggested the placing of it under her pillow with the happy news that perhaps the good fairy would leave a dime in its place.

The highly indignant and practical young lady informed her grandmother that always before, the good fairy had left a 50-cent piece.

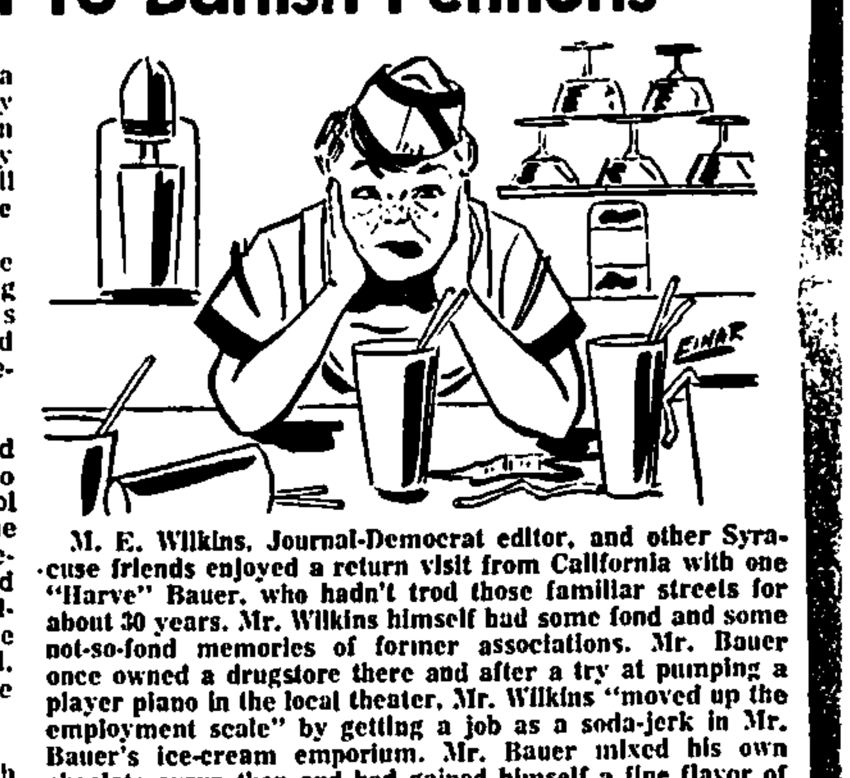
A Kearney fisherman had what he considered an especially fine run of luck. Returning home, he could honestly report to his wife that he had caught two walleyes and a rod and reel, because that's exactly what he did.

In landing the second walleye, he noticed that the two-pounder had another hook and line still attached. So in addition to a fish dinner, he now also has some other unfortunate fisherman's gear for an extra.



M. E. Wilkins, Journal-Democrat editor, and other Syracuse friends enjoyed a return visit from California with one "Harve" Bauer, who hadn't trod those familiar streets for about 30 years. Mr. Wilkins himself had some fond and some not-so-fond memories of former associations. Mr. Bauer once owned a drugstore there and after a try at pumping a player piano in the local theater, Mr. Wilkins "moved up the employment scale" by getting a job as a soda-jerk in Mr. Bauer's ice-cream emporium. Mr. Bauer mixed his own choclate syrup then and had gained himself a fine flavor of local fame for his malts. And in those good ol' days, part of the pay for any young soda-jerk was all the malts he wanted, much to the envy of his cash-paying chums. But, alas, show-offiness goeth before a stomach-ache. "Near end of the first week's employment, a day of ghastly illness left one 10-year-old with an aversion to choclate malted milks which has lasted to this day."

There are several things Mrs. Joe Heitz of the Schuyler Sun would like to have out-and-out laws against, to the extent that she is almost ready to circulate petitions . . .

The first would be the outlawing of door-to-door salesmen who are such a bother when the lady of the house is trying to finish her cleaning, taking a nap or baking a cake. Next on her list would be the banishing of telephone calls when one is bathing, watching a good TV program, reading a book or making a bed.

Then, of course, there would be such projects as to exile weeds from the garden, bugs from the tomatoes, worms from the honeysuckle vines, banty roosters from the flower beds and dogs and cats that romp around in the sweet corn . . .

And last, proving herself strictly a woman, she would banish petitions themselves forever. After her own rather lengthy listing of what she would petition for and against, she says "they get irksome when too many are brought around for too many diverse reasons."

Harry Morris, scouting for the Wymore Arbor State, reports hay increasingly in short supply. Most of the first crop has been harvested and the cutting was fairly short, with prospects that the second cutting will be even shorter.

One farmer told him that if he had known it was going to be such a precious commodity, he would have bought considerably more at the farm sales. He could sell all he wanted, he said, at $30 a ton. During the harvest, good hay was selling for about 50 cents a bale at farm sales, or around $18 to $20 a ton.

Lollypops

Valentine, Neb.

The recent decision handed down by the Supreme Court —what a joke! I have had over 40 years experience as an enforcement officer. I would be in favor of taking all fire arms away from enforcement officers and replacing them with a sack of lollypops.

When an officer apprehends a law violator, bank robber, murderer or rapist, he should give him a lollypop and tell him if he is caught again—no lollypops.

Three bank robbers before the judge. No. 1 is six feet and six inches tall. No. 2 is five feet and six inches tall. No. 3 is a dwarf of four feet and four inches. The judges' decision — give the biggest bank robber 10 years. Give the medium-sized bank robber five years and turn the smallest robber loose.

It's no wonder the police department cannot hire officers.

The Topeka tornado of massive proportions only pinpoints the need for more storm shelter space in the upcoming city-county complex. One-half or 50 percent of these costs would be paid by federal funds as matching money.

We will be missing a golden opportunity if we fail to use this financial assistance to its fullest extent. Since Rome was not built in a day, we might as well plan to build in all the necessary safety features.

Socialism

Lincoln, Neb.

I wholeheartedly agree with Jay J. Sullivan of Clay Center, Nebraska, that it is sad when the government officials have taken upon themselves to regulate our lives from dawn to dusk—from toothpaste to sleeping pill! An inflamed appendix must need to be removed but mine will be removed only after deliberate and knowledgeable consultation with a surgeon — trained, capable and interested fully in my own personal well-being.

Interest, ability and training are sadly exemplified on the part of many of our governing officials. It is not our form of government that is at fault. The troubles we are experiencing in our great nation are resultant of poorly trained and informed, chosen socialistic-minded officials who care only for themselves and the fortune they can accumulate at the expense of mortgaging the whole of our society — and force their programs upon us without knowing or caring for the public popularity of such programs. If many of the state and federal programs were put to the vote of the people, they would fail to pass. That is the reason these programs are not allowed to come to a vote. Congress and the Nebraska State Legislature pass so many bills that it is impossible for the legislators to become fully acquainted with the contents of the bills. Small pressure groups whose leaders fail to tell them the whole story prevail upon legislators to pass unneeded and unwise legislation. All bills with socialistic content should die in committee and save many hard-working taxpayers foolishly spent money.

Social Security should never have been made compulsory. I do not owe Mr. Sullivan that money that I am forced to pay to his Social Security benefit and I would be pleased if it were possible for him to return this action to my benefit. Nor do I owe him any money for any Medicare in which he might participate. I am forced to pay to him and in turn I can deduct only a portion of my personal medical bills on my income tax return. And yet he dares to ask for more and more socialism at everyone's expense — including their constitutional rights.

Has anyone in his community died because of lack of medical care? If so, then it is the lack of effort on the part of everyone to promote such necessary help at the local level. He should put his effort there. As for his empty clinic, it is sad, but do not the city streets there have other empty business buildings? Most communities do. Many are working harder than ever to do business the private enterprise method — forming corporations and selling stocks for funding and promotion. This private way of handling business personally or by incorporation eliminates a few lobbyists and socialism would soon die the death it must die. Clay Center will live on!

ANTI-SOCIALISM

The Real Thing

Lincoln, Neb.

The war to preserve our nation under law will not be won by manipulation on the political front or lost on the battlefield. Further analysis distinguishes between the religion of the imaginary god and religious groups, and genuine religion. The former is based on wishful thinking, make-believe and "let's pretend." Genuine religion is sane and sound, based on intelligence and the reality of intrinsic values, eternal verities, and the immutable laws of the universe. Fully grasped, conformed to and taught in the schools and the market place, it will save our nation and solve any problem.

So a Centennial party turned up two great facts. One was our strongest feeling for Nebraska, our deepest resolve to carry on our program to beautify and to make it more attractive to every one. The program which has been going on under the leadership of Governor Morrison is now in high gear. The day gave us the full sense of mission.

And we gained a very influential friend. What we are setting forth to do is close to Mrs. Johnson's heart and Mrs. Johnson is close to the seats of power. We are sure that she will be our great ally in shaping the things that are to come.

We have had lots of good days. But we have never had a better day. It was a very good visit.

The Planes Are Moving

The shoe is beginning to pinch.

Taking President Charles DeGaulle at his word, the U.S. Defense Department has taken early steps toward removal of its NATO defense units from French soil.

The first removal was like pulling a molar without the benefit of novocain and the pain and shock will be felt down deep in the French economy.

Two squadrons of planes, the men who man them, and the materiel necessary for their presence have been ordered out. Henceforth, they will fly from England. With them will go 2,300 airmen, 3,100 dependents and away will go 12 hundred jobs filled by Frenchmen. And that is just the beginning. The American military presence includes 30,000 men, 37,000 dependents and 17,300 jobs for French nationals. These plus the fixed investment, the added shipping and services and the payrolls amounts to a fine foreign aid program as well as a defense posture.

Mr. DeGaulle cannot have his cake and eat it, too. In this instance Great Britain will get his slice of cake.

It is useless to deny that our military outlays in Europe have not greatly aided the economies of our allies. The threat of war continues to be only a remote possibility, but the inflowing cash is a daily reality.

Instead of vaulting to new national heights it is more probable that Mr. DeGaulle will be busy for some time repairing, if possible, the great hole in the economic structure that will be caused by this military removal.

But that is the problem of the Frenchmen. They will have to get their francs from some other place, if possible.

For Shame

Saipan, Tinian, Kwajalein. Those words will be ever fresh in the minds of present day Americans.

They represent bloodshed, fierce fighting and the onward march of history and American prestige.

They not only represent battle sites, but people, and a whole army of little atolls generally in the equatorial vicinity of the Pacific between Guam and Hawaii. We remember Bikini, too, for the H-bomb tests and for modern garments that hardly qualify as such because there is so little of them.

But perhaps we have forgotten that Bikini is still uninhabitable, though the natives removed from it would like to go back, because the land is no longer dangerously irradiated, but all of the fish and plant life are.

And we have almost forgotten that after World War II the United Nations put this area, called Micronesia, under a Pacific Trust Territory and charged the United States with providing for advancement of the peaceable natives. We maintain substantial military installations there, but our 19 years of trusteeship frankly show poor results. Disease, poverty and token education still hold sway.

Lately, we were stung to action by charges of neglect, lodged by communist bloc countries and we have been stung by damaging reports from the World Health Organization.

Now Interior Secretary Udall has asked for $172 million which he would spend during a five year program for hospital, schools and public utilities.

There should be no question over such a fund.

Micronesia did not come to us hat in hand. Rather we were made trustee because the world believed we would do a good job and we haven't done that. We have a duty.

Nasser's Future Tied To U.S. Food

WASHINGTON—The question of whether to continue feeding President Gamel Abdel Nasser and the United Arab Republic is being debated secretly inside the State Department and is likely to break into the open soon on Capitol Hill. A decision must be made within the next ten days, since Nasser's Food agreement with the United States expires June 30.

Most people don't realize it, but the United States has sent food to Egypt valued at almost double what Russia has contributed to the more widely publicized Aswan dam.

The decision to continue sending food involves much more than merely feeding people. Basically it involves the question of whether or not Nasser is to continue as the head of the so-called United Arab Republic, now no longer united with Syria or any other Arab state.

Diplomatic cables from the Near East report that Nasser is in a precarious political position, and that failure to get American grain would cause street riots, probable rebellion by the army, and his downfall.

The Egyptian army, already smarting over having been led into a military impasse in Yemen, is reported fed up with the debonair colonel who has ruled Egypt since King Farouk was kicked out in 1952. It's even reported that one reason Nasser does not bring his 60,000-man army back from Yemen is the fear that these troops would revolt against him.

On the economic front, Nasser has not been able to pay the French for the first load of French grain delivered under the Franco-Egyptian load agreement.

Egypt receives a total of $700 million in foreign currency per year, including Suez canal tolls of $290 million and 80 million pounds received from the tourist industry. However, it needs far more than this if it is to import basic foodstuffs, including flour, beans, lentils, meat; plus spare parts and a certain amount of machinery.

The United States has subsidized Egypt to the extent of more than $500 million in food since 1954. Last December, however, Congress rebelled at this continued subsidy of an Arab leader who has publicly insulted the United States; so the State Department substituted its long-term agreement for a six-months food loan totaling $55 million, which expires at the end of June.

If it is not renewed, African experts predict Nasser will go the way of other Afro-Asian leaders recently kicked out of office—President Nkrumah of Ghana, President Ben Bella of Algeria, the ruling clique of Nigeria, and President Sukarno of Indonesia, who while not actually dethroned, has been demoted.

Dakota Celebrates Rural Electric Age

COLMAN, S.D.—Ten thousand residents of this virile part of the United States gathered here this week to celebrate a miracle a majority of Americans, who are city slickers, accept as their just due.

What was celebrated here under a vast tent was the still stupendous fact that after centuries of darkness America's farms were given electricity. This was the annual meeting of the Sioux Valley Empire Association, one of the big and lively cooperatives that electrified rural America when the big utility companies wouldn't or couldn't, and when even some of the farmers and ranchers themselves fought against the burial of the kerosene lamp of yore.

Pretty second-generation farm wives shopped glittering appliance booths for the latest word in time-saving, labor-saving and even status-giving gee-gaws that come to life when plugged into the now endless miles of power lines that switch remote areas to urban centers. While they stopped, some of their still-living mothers and grandmothers remembered when an iron was actually made of iron, a six-pound slab of it that had to be heated on a wood stove. And when an evening's entertainment was derived from well-thumbed stereopticon slides, not color-TV, radio and home movies.

Farmers, ranchers and other users of electric power studied over new ways to put the incredible, invisible slave to work—make it pump water to barren lands, automate cow barns, lift, tote, bale, pull, push, and permit one man to keep 25,000 chicks happy without giving vent to a single cluck.

Hard to believe that when the Rural Electrification Administration was set up in 1935, as part of President Roosevelt's revolution, only 11 per cent of U.S. farms had electricity. Today the figure is 99 per cent. When REA started, the public utilities people were charging as much as $3,000 a mile to stretch a line to a customer's acreage.

Cooperatives, put together by people who in some cases were so poor they could pay only $2 of the $5 membership fee, and give a note for the remainder, soon were able to borrow money from REA on easy long-term plans, and the face of America changed more radically in a short time than ever before in her history.

☆ ☆ ☆

"The night the lights came on" is still hailed in many rural regions as an occasion ranking with the stature of such feast days as Christmas and Thanksgiving. Electrical power changed millions of lives instantaneously, ended lonely isolation, provided leisure time that reflected itself in better education, improved public health, cut deep into farm accidents, provided a tremendous shot in the arm for the American economy, made us the breadbasket of the world, won a war, sealed a peace.

Petition To Banish Petitions

By MONA B. PARKER

It wasn't too happy a summer note sounded by Jack Lough in the Albion News, but perhaps it's only a temporary situation and will soon be taken care of . . .

"Kids," he advised, "the swimming pool's leaking and that probably means that it will have to be closed for a short time for repairs."

☆ ☆ ☆

The community of Oxford was looking for someone to take charge of its local pool for the months ahead. One of the applicants was reported to be six feet and eight inches tall. The Standard said he was asked if he could swim, and replied, "No, but I can wade like crazy."

As with all things with price tag attached, inflation has come to the good fairy in charge of fallen-out teeth . . .

A nine-year-old Hastings youngster showed her grandmother a tiny bit of ivory that had just emerged from her mouth with a little help in the wiggle and jiggle department. The grandmother, as from time immemorial, suggested the placing of it under her pillow with the happy news that perhaps the good fairy would leave a dime in its place.

The highly indignant and practical young lady informed her grandmother that always before, the good fairy had left a 50-cent piece.

A Kearney fisherman had what he considered an especially fine run of luck. Returning home, he could honestly report to his wife that he had caught two walleyes and a rod and reel, because that's exactly what he did.

In landing the second walleye, he noticed that the two-pounder had another hook and line still attached. So in addition to a fish dinner, he now also has some other unfortunate fisherman's gear for an extra.

M. E. Wilkins, Journal-Democrat editor, and other Syracuse friends enjoyed a return visit from California with one "Harve" Bauer, who hadn't trod those familiar streets for about 30 years. Mr. Wilkins himself had some fond and some not-so-fond memories of former associations. Mr. Bauer once owned a drugstore there and after a try at pumping a player piano in the local theater, Mr. Wilkins "moved up the employment scale" by getting a job as a soda-jerk in Mr. Bauer's ice-cream emporium. Mr. Bauer mixed his own choclate syrup then and had gained himself a fine flavor of local fame for his malts. And in those good ol' days, part of the pay for any young soda-jerk was all the malts he wanted, much to the envy of his cash-paying chums. But, alas, show-offiness goeth before a stomach-ache. "Near end of the first week's employment, a day of ghastly illness left one 10-year-old with an aversion to choclate malted milks which has lasted to this day."

There are several things Mrs. Joe Heitz of the Schuyler Sun would like to have out-and-out laws against, to the extent that she is almost ready to circulate petitions . . .

The first would be the outlawing of door-to-door salesmen who are such a bother when the lady of the house is trying to finish her cleaning, taking a nap or baking a cake. Next on her list would be the banishing of telephone calls when one is bathing, watching a good TV program, reading a book or making a bed.

Then, of course, there would be such projects as to exile weeds from the garden, bugs from the tomatoes, worms from the honeysuckle vines, banty roosters from the flower beds and dogs and cats that romp around in the sweet corn . . .

And last, proving herself strictly a woman, she would banish petitions themselves forever. After her own rather lengthy listing of what she would petition for and against, she says "they get irksome when too many are brought around for too many diverse reasons."

Harry Morris, scouting for the Wymore Arbor State, reports hay increasingly in short supply. Most of the first crop has been harvested and the cutting was fairly short, with prospects that the second cutting will be even shorter.

One farmer told him that if he had known it was going to be such a precious commodity, he would have bought considerably more at the farm sales. He could sell all he wanted, he said, at $30 a ton. During the harvest, good hay was selling for about 50 cents a bale at farm sales, or around $18 to $20 a ton.

Lollypops

Valentine, Neb.

The recent decision handed down by the Supreme Court—what a joke! I have had over 40 years experience as an enforcement officer. I would be in favor of taking all fire arms away from enforcement officers and replacing them with a sack of lollypops.

When an officer apprehends a law violator, bank robber, murderer or rapist, he should give him a lollypop and tell him if he is caught again—no lollypops.

Three bank robbers before the judge. No. 1 is six feet and six inches tall. No. 2 is five feet and six inches tall. No. 3 is a dwarf of four feet and four inches. The judges' decision — give the biggest bank robber 10 years. Give the medium-sized bank robber five years and turn the smallest robber loose.

It's no wonder the police department cannot hire officers.

Storm Shelters

The Topeka tornado of massive proportions only pinpoints the need for more storm shelter space in the upcoming city-county complex. One-half or 50 percent of these costs would be paid by federal funds as matching money.

We will be missing a golden opportunity if we fail to use this financial assistance to its fullest extent. Since Rome was not built in a day, we might as well plan to build in all the necessary safety features.

Socialism

Lincoln, Neb.

I wholeheartedly agree with Jay J. Sullivan of Clay Center, Nebraska, that it is sad when the government officials have taken upon themselves to regulate our lives from dawn to dusk—from toothpaste to sleeping pill! An inflamed appendix must need to be removed but mine will be removed only after deliberate and knowledgeable consultation with a surgeon — trained, capable and interested fully in my own personal well-being.

Interest, ability and training are sadly exemplified on the part of many of our governing officials. It is not our form of government that is at fault. The troubles we are experiencing in our great nation are resultant of poorly trained and informed, chosen socialistic-minded officials who care only for themselves and the fortune they can accumulate at the expense of mortgaging the whole of our society — and force their programs upon us without knowing or caring for the public popularity of such programs. If many of the state and federal programs were put to the vote of the people, they would fail to pass. That is the reason these programs are not allowed to come to a vote. Congress and the Nebraska State Legislature pass so many bills that it is impossible for the legislators to become fully acquainted with the contents of the bills. Small pressure groups whose leaders fail to tell them the whole story prevail upon legislators to pass unneeded and unwise legislation. All bills with socialistic content should die in committee and save many hard-working taxpayers foolishly spent money.

Social Security should never have been made compulsory. I do not owe Mr. Sullivan that money that I am forced to pay to his Social Security benefit and I would be pleased if it were possible for him to return this action to my benefit. Nor do I owe him any money for any Medicare in which he might participate. I am forced to pay to him and in turn I can deduct only a portion of my personal medical bills on my income tax return. And yet he dares to ask for more and more socialism at everyone's expense — including their constitutional rights.

Has anyone in his community died because of lack of medical care? If so, then it is the lack of effort on the part of everyone to promote such necessary help at the local level. He should put his effort there. As for his empty clinic, it is sad, but do not the city streets there have other empty business buildings? Most communities do. Many are working harder than ever to do business the private enterprise method — forming corporations and selling stocks for funding and promotion. This private way of handling business personally or by incorporation eliminates a few lobbyists and socialism would soon die the death it must die. Clay Center will live on!

The Real Thing

Lincoln, Neb.

The war to preserve our nation under law will not be won by manipulation on the political front or lost on the battlefield. Further analysis distinguishes between the religion of the imaginary god and religious groups, and genuine religion. The former is based on wishful thinking, make-believe and "let's pretend." Genuine religion is sane and sound, based on intelligence and the reality of intrinsic values, eternal verities, and the immutable laws of the universe. Fully grasped, conformed to and taught in the schools and the market place, it will save our nation and solve any problem.

Boom Is Still Lively

Washington (UPI) — The output of U.S. mines, mills and factories rose strongly in May, indicating there is still plenty of life left in the boom, the Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday.

The board's key index of industrial production advanced nearly one percent to 154.8% of the 1957-59 average from a revised April figure of 153.6.

A decline in auto production was more than offset by gains in most other products, the board reported.

The May gain of 1.2 points in the production index was four times as large as April's 0.3 point advance. The April figure was widely interpreted as signaling a slowdown in the nation's booming economy and as reducing the need for a tax increase.

Industrial production did not gain as much last month as during January, February and March when inflation signs were the strongest. During the first quarter, the index rose an average of 1.5 points a month.

The May figure is likely to keep alive the possibility of an anti-inflationary tax increase. Commerce Secretary John T. Connor has said in his opinion there will be no tax hike this year but noted that President Johnson is still studying the situation.

Rusk Opposes Reducing European NATO Force

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk opposed any reductions in NATO forces Thursday unless there are corresponding cuts on the communist side.

Faced with senatorial arguments that the United States should withdraw some of its European troops because of the war in Viet Nam Rusk said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are at minimum level.

". . . the only way in which we can have genuine progress toward the eventual settlement of the tragic division of Germany and the gulf between East and West," he said, "is to demonstrate in unmistakable terms our resolve to keep our defense strong and to remain united."

First Public Report

Rusk appeared before the Senate government operations subcommittee on national security. It was his first public report on the NATO ministerial meeting at Brussels last week.

Aside from France's decision to withdraw from the NATO military command structure, Rusk said a major question considered at Brussels dealt with East-West relations "and the best approach to their eventual solution."

He said there are "no dramatic prospects for new agreements or arrangements with the East" but all the NATO countries believe the nations of the West should "make it abundantly clear that they desire improved relationships."

He noted that the Brussels meeting marked a critical test of NATO's vitality in the wake of President Charles de Gaulle's decision to cut his forces loose from the organization and to oust allied troops from French soil.

Passed Test

"And I believe it is accurate to say that NATO passed this test with confidence," Rusk said. "I returned home with renewed faith that NATO will prove equal to the challenges that lie ahead."

Special Session Law Could Stop County's Tax Refund Payments

A bill passed at the recent special legislative session may have interrupted or halted tax penalty refund payments which counties have been making in recent months.

Lancaster County, which has been making payments since February of penalties collected illegally, has halted the payment and processing of the refunds. The step could mean some 1,500 taxpayers will not receive refunds which might have totaled up to $30,000.

The bill apparently blocking the flow of claims is LB2, designed originally to keep taxpayers from taking advantage of a recent Supreme Court opinion on valuation of foreign (out-of-state) corporation stock for tax purposes by filing claims for refunds of taxes collected under the state's improper interpretation of the law.

Prohibited

LB2 as passed prohibits taxing officials from refunding taxes illegally assessed and collected although permitting refunds of penalties illegally assessed and collected.

Prevailing state law had permitted refund claims within two years of any Supreme Court judgment holding a tax or penalty to have been illegal.

LB2 as sent to the Legislature by the governor retained this two-year period. But the bill was amended on the floor to reduce the period to 60 days.

Hits Refunds

This hits refunds of penalties collected under the Nebraska Supreme Court judgment of last July in a challenge brought by Benson and Ruth Bachus of Omaha. The court declared unconstitutional a law under which penalties had been assessed from 1962 to 1964 for late filings and omissions of personal property.

In a memorandum to county officials, State Tax Commissioner George Dworak advised that tax refund procedures are now governed by LB2, passed Monday and signed into law on Tuesday.

"It is the opinion of this office that any application for refund of penalty filed after June 14, 1966, for penalties declared unconstitutional in the Bachus vs. Swanson case would be out of time," he wrote.

Roadblocks

This appeared to throw a roadblock in the way of taxpayers who had not gotten around to making refund claims but who, in reliance on the two-year provision, thought they still had plenty of time.

Lancaster County has paid taxpayers $29,547 in refunds on 1,335 of an estimated total of more than 3,000 possible claims covering the three year period.

County Assessor Arthur Davis said he is taking no further action on processing 1964 claims or those for 1962 and 1963 that have not been approved by the county board until the county attorney advises him what to do.

County Treasurer Carl Berg said he is holding up payment on 516 claims totaling $7,585 that have been approved by the county board until he receives advice from the county attorney.

Rusk Opposes Reducing European NATO Force

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk opposed any reductions in NATO forces Thursday unless there are corresponding cuts on the communist side.

Faced with senatorial arguments that the United States should withdraw some of its European troops because of the war in Viet Nam, Rusk said the North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are at minimum level.

"... the only way in which we can have genuine progress toward the eventual settlement of the tragic division of Germany and the gulf between East and West," he said, "is to demonstrate in unmistakable terms our resolve to keep our defense strong and to remain united."

First Public Report

Rusk appeared before the Senate government operations subcommittee on national security. It was his first public report on the NATO ministerial meeting at Brussels last week.

Aside from France's decision to withdraw from the NATO military command structure, Rusk said a major question considered at Brussels dealt with East-West relations "and the best approach to their eventual solution."

He said there are "no dramatic prospects for new agreements or arrangements with the East" but all the NATO countries believe the nations of the West should "make it abundantly clear that they desire improved relationships."

He noted that the Brussels meeting marked a critical test of NATO's vitality in the wake of President Charles de Gaulle's decision to cut his forces loose from the organization and to oust allied troops from French soil.

Passed Test

"And I believe it is accurate to say that NATO passed this test with confidence," Rusk said. "I returned home with renewed faith that NATO will prove equal to the challenges that lie ahead."

Special Session Law Could Stop County's Tax Refund Payments

A bill passed at the recent special legislative session may have interrupted or halted tax penalty refund payments which counties have been making in recent months.

Lancaster County, which has been making payments since February of penalties collected illegally, has halted the payment and processing of the refunds. The step could mean some 1,500 taxpayers will not receive refunds which might have totaled up to $30,000.

The bill apparently blocking the flow of claims is LB2, designed originally to keep taxpayers from taking advantage of a recent Supreme Court opinion on valuation of foreign (out-of-state) corporation stock for tax purposes by filing claims for refunds of taxes collected under the state's improper interpretation of the law.

Prohibited

LB2 as passed prohibits taxing officials from refunding taxes illegally assessed and collected although permitting refunds of penalties illegally assessed and collected.

Prevailing state law had permitted refund claims within two years of any Supreme Court judgment holding a tax or penalty to have been illegal.

LB2 as sent to the Legislature by the governor retained this two-year period. But the bill was amended on the floor to reduce the period to 60 days.

Hits Refunds

This hits refunds of penalties collected under the Nebraska Supreme Court judgment of last July in a challenge brought by Benson and Ruth Bachus of Omaha. The court declared unconstitutional a law under which penalties had been assessed from 1962 to 1964 for late filings and omissions of personal property.

In a memorandum to county officials, State Tax Commissioner George Dworak advised that tax refund procedures are now governed by LB2, passed Monday and signed into law on Tuesday.

"It is the opinion of this office that any application for refund of penalty filed after June 14, 1966, for penalties declared unconstitutional in the Bachus vs. Swanson case would be out of time," he wrote.

Roadblocks

This appeared to throw a roadblock in the way of taxpayers who had not gotten around to making refund claims but who, in reliance on the two-year provision, thought they still had plenty of time.

Lancaster County has paid taxpayers $29,547 in refunds on 1,335 of an estimated total of more than 3,000 possible claims covering the three year period.

County Assessor Arthur Davis said he is taking no further action on processing 1964 claims or those for 1962 and 1963 that have not been approved by the county board until the county attorney advises him what to do.

County Treasurer Carl Berg said he is holding up payment on 516 claims totaling $7,585 that have been approved by the county board until he receives advice from the county attorney.

Romania Receives Praise From Chou

Bucharest, Romania (AP)—Premier Chou En-lai of Red China told cheering crowds Thursday, "The people of Romania defend the independence of their country." This was an obvious reference to Romanian objections to Soviet attempts to dictate economic and military policy in Eastern Europe.

Arriving for an eight-day visit, Chou was careful, however, not to assail the Soviet Union by name in deference to the Romanian leadership, which has stayed neutral in the Peking-Moscow idological feud.

Instead he said that his meetings with Romania leaders "will strengthen the relations between our countries and give us an opportunity to exchange views on the situation in the world socialist (communist) movement."

Policy Praised

Praising Romania's constant policy of noninvolvment in the dispute between China and Russia, Chou declared:

"Your country has fought pressure from outside and you have been driving to find useful norms for cooperation between socialist countries."

In his welcoming speech, Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer avoided any reference to the Romanian drives to become independent of Moscow, a move that has caused tension in the Warsaw Pact.

Key Topic

Romanian-Soviet differences, however, are expected to be a key topic in Chou's talks with Romanian Communist Party chief Nicolae Ceausescu. In a number of recent public statements, Ceausescu has emphasized Romania's determination to follow its own course in the Communist Bloc and remain neutral in the Chinese-Soviet feud.

The Chinese leader is expected to receive assurances that the Bucharest regime will not take Moscow's side in any issue involving China. The Romanians may caution the Chinese against overplaying their hand in the ideological dispute.

"The Romanians will continue playing the Chinese against the Soviets to advance their national interests as much as they can," one seasoned observer said.

Chinese Purge Spreads

Tokyo (AP)—Red China's antiparty purge has spread from Peking to Nanking. This could be the beginning of a pattern—predicted by some specialists on China — that the party pruning would spread into all corners of the country.

The latest victim, after numerous political leaders and educators fell into disgrace in the capital, is the rector of Nanking University, Kuang Ya-ming.

Like those purged before him, Kuang was accused of counter-revolutionary crimes. Coupled with the announcement of his ouster was an appeal to the masses to "overthrow the antiparty, anti-socialist, counter-revolutionary elements opposing Mao Tze-tung's thoughts."

Gemini 10 To Attempt Space Altitude Record

Space Center, Houston (UPI)—U.S. astronauts John Young and Michael Collins will shoot for a world altitude record in space during the orbital flight of Gemini 10 next month, it was learned Thursday.

Informed sources said the two pilots would use the rocket power of an Agena target satellite to propel themselves 431 miles above earth.

The existing altitude mark of 308 miles was set by Russian cosmonaut Pavel Belyayev and his spacewalking copilot, Alexei Leonov, on the flight of Voskhod 2 on March 18, 1965.

The Soviets have not launched a manned spaceflight since.

The voyage of Gemini 10, expected to last three days, is scheduled to blast off July 18 from Cape Kennedy, about 1½ hours after the Agena target satellite is hoisted into orbit aboard an Atlas booster from a nearby firing pad.

Young and Collins, flying this nation's third manned orbital flight of the year, hope to link up with the Agena after a space chase that will cover about 100,000 miles in slightly more than five hours.

The fuel aboard the Agena and its 16,000 pound-thrust engine hopefully will provide Gemini 10 with the power necessary for the leap to a space altitude record.

Out 3 Times

Also during the flight, copilot Collins will open his righthand hatch at least three times for so-called "extra vehicular activity," or EVA.

The first time, Collins will climb outside for a 45-minute walk in space at the end of a 50-foot-long lifeline providing him with vital supplies of oxygen, pressure and heat.

U.S. Presents Space Treaty Draft To U.N.

United Nations, N. Y. (AP)—The United States Thursday gave the United Nations a propesed treaty for governing exploration of the moon and other celestial bodies. It asked that the outer space legal subcommittee meet July 12 to take it up.

A Soviet source said the Soviet Union had submitted a similar treaty earlier in the day but the text of that proposal was not made public.

The U. S. draft was in line with a May 7 statement by President Johnson calling for a treaty to reserve celestial bodies for peaceful purposes.

The draft treaty declared such bodies open equally to all countries, subject to claim by none, and off limits to nuclear weapnos, weapon testing, military maneuvers and fortifications.

Martin Calls For Boost In Taxes

Washington (UPI) — Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board told the House Banking Committee Thursday that the economic situation calls for a tax increase.

But he said it might be too late now to boost taxes to meet inflationary pressures.

House Committee Approves Tough Highway Safety Bill

From Press Reports

The House Public Works Committee approved Thursday a tough highway safety bill that would cut federal highway aid to states which fail to establish proper safety programs.

The bill goes considerably beyond administration proposals and also beyond a bill approved last week by the Senate Public Works Committee.

It would require states to set up safety programs subject to approval by the secretary of commerce, provide for a reduction of 25% in federal highway aid after Jan. 1, 1968, for states which do not have approved safety programs and establish a national highway safety agency to administer the program.

Limited Program

Like the Senate committee, the House group limited the program to three years instead of the six the administration had asked. It would authorize $260 million over the three years, less than the Senate committee voted, including —$200 million for mandatory state highway safety programs covering driver education and testing, highway construction and maintenance, vehicle operation and inspection, and traffic laws.

—$55 million for safety research and training of personnel.

Watch Drivers

—$2.4 million to create a national driver registry to keep tabs on law-breaking drivers whose licenses have been suspended or withdrawn.

—$3 million for planning national highway safety research and testing facilities.

President Johnson had asked for a six-year program totaling $580 million. But unlike the administration bill, the House measure forbids dipping into present highway revenues, now earmarked for construction, to pay for the safety program.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

26 Standards Planned By Government

Washington ? — The government has announced plans to require 26 safety standards on all 1968 model automotive vehicles it purchases. They are:

1. Anchorage for both lap and shoulder seat belts at certain seating places.

2. Construction of [illegible] compartments so as to reduce the likelihood of head impact or leg or knee injury to a person wearing a lap seat belt.

3. Recessed instrument panel and control devices.

4. Collapsible steering column and other energy-absorbing provisions in the steering control system.

5. Safety door latches and hinges.

6. Safety anchorage of seats, including adequate strength of seat adjusters and seat frame combinations and anchorage of folding seats.

7. Four-way flashers.

8. Safety glass and glazing materials.

9. Hydraulic service brake systems.

10. Standard bumper heights.

11. A standard gear quadrant (PRNDL) for vehicles equipped with automatic transmissions.

12. Windshield wipers and washers, including coverage of a larger windshield area than has been standard.

13. Provision of glare reduction surfaces.

14. Control of air pollution through compliance with the standard proposed by the Health, Education and Welfare Department Dec. 31, 1965, for equipment on all vehicles to control polluting emissions.

House Kills Plan Giving President Control Of Credit

Washington (UPI) — The House killed Thursday a plan to give President Johnson standby wartime power to impose credit controls on purchases of everything from automobiles to television sets. The vote was 275 to 73.

Johnson did not ask for the power and was reported not anxious to get it. The plan was adopted by the House Banking Committee at the urging of Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., as a step to fight inflation.

The House, however, heeded Republican warnings that the standby authority would be "misinterpreted" by the public and might spark "panic buying" in fear that controls later would be imposed.

Topeka Mayor Thanks Lincoln For Help Offer

Topeka Mayor Charles Wright Jr., in expressing his appreciation for Lincoln's offer of help after a tornado devastated the Kansas capitol city, told Mayor Dean Petersen that local manpower was sufficient to maintain mop up activities.

"It was very comforting to me to receive this offer and I want you to know that it was deeply appreciated," Mayor Wright said in a letter received by Petersen Thursday.

"Fortunately we were able to acquire the services of municipal employes and equipment from cities close to Topeka and we received such an amount of help that it was not necessary to call in your forces," he added.

The Kansas mayor suggested that if any of your people wish to contribute anything to the Red Cross or Salvation Army it will be gratefully accepted for our many disaster victims."

West Schools Have Room For 704 More

Four schools on the western side of Lincoln could handle a total of 704 more elementary students in the 1966-67 school year, according to membership projections reported to the board of education.

In addition, there is room for another 1,023 students at the Air Force Base school, General Arnold, since only 147 youngsters are expected to attend in the fall.

Clare McPhee is estimated to have 309 students, while the building has a practical capacity of 450. Hayward, with a practical capacity of 480, is expected to have only 194 children.

Lake View and West Lincoln also are expected to run at considerably less than capacity. Lake View, with a capacity of 330, anticipates 140 students. West Lincoln forecasts 123 children, with room for 210.

Supt. Steven Watkins presented the survey of availability of space during board consideration of the status of General Arnold which has been losing students steadily all year long with the deactivation of the Air Force Base.

Final projections for student enrollment next year will be determined after the school census, scheduled for July. The board has agreed to wait until after the census to decide whether General Arnold will be open in 1966-67.

China Charges U.S. 'Intrusion'

London (UPI)—Communist China claimed Thursday that a U.S. warship and an American plane intruded into Chinese territorial waters and air space.

The New China News Agency, in a dispatch monitored here, said the warship intruded into Chinese waters south of Taunghan Island, Fukien Province; while the U.S. military plane intruded south of Namoa Island, Kwangtung Province.

SENATE OK'S $330 BILLION DEBT CEILING

From Press Reports

Washington — The Senate passed and sent to President Johnson Thursday legislation authorizing a record $330 billion national debt limit. The vote was 50 to 17.

Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., voted against the measure. Sen. Roman Hruska, R-Neb., who did not vote, was announced as paired against the measure.

Approved last week by the House, the measure contained a compromise $2 billion hike in the debt ceiling that indicated a much brighter budget picture for the President.

But there was a noticable absence of the normally vocal opposition to the red ink legislation.

Instead, debate centered on an amendment that would have permited taxpayers to deduct up to $100 in campaign contributions. The proposal, sponsored by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., was defeated, 45 to 24.

Curtis declared in a statement to the Associated Press that the vote on the Williams amendment, for which he voted, "was a clear indication of the power of the bosses in the AFL-CIO over those who are elected on the Democratic ticket to serve in the Senate."

"Mr. Andrew Biemiller, speaking for the AFL-CIO, had sent a letter to acting Senate leader Sen. Russell Long, D-La.," Curtis said, "which was quoted on the floor.

"This letter said in part, 'We would like to make absolutely clear our position in opposition to the $100 tax deduction feature of the President's proposal on campaign financing.'"

House Committee Approves Tough Highway Safety Bill

From Press Reports

The House Public Works Committee approved Thursday a tough highway safety bill that would cut federal highway aid to states which fail to establish proper safety programs.

The bill goes considerably beyond administration proposals and also beyond a bill approved last week by the Senate Public Works Committee.

It would require states to set up safety programs, subject to approval by the secretary of commerce, provide for a reduction of 25% in federal highway aid after Jan. 1, 1968, for states which do not have approved safety programs and establish a national highway safety agency to administer the program.

Limited Program

Like the Senate committee, the House group limited the program to three years instead of the six the administration had asked. It would authorize $260 million over the three years, less than the Senate committee voted, including:

—$200 million for mandatory state highway safety programs covering driver education and testing, highway construction and maintenance, vehicle operation and inspection, and traffic laws.

—$55 million for safety research and training of personnel.

Watch Drivers

—$2.4 million to create a national driver registry to keep tabs on law-breaking drivers whose licenses have been suspended or withdrawn.

—$3 million for planning national highway safety research and testing facilities.

President Johnson had asked for a six-year program totaling $580 million. But unlike the administration bill, the House measure forbids dipping into present highway revenues, now earmarked for construction, to pay for the safety program.

26 Standards Planned By Government

Washington (AP) — The government has announced plans to require 26 safety standards on all 1968 model automotive vehicles it purchases. They are:

1. Anchorages for both lap and shoulder seat belts for certain seating places.
2. Construction of forward compartments so as to reduce the likelihood of head impact or leg or knee injury to a person wearing a lap seat belt.
3. Recessed instrument panel and control devices.
4. Collapsible steering column and other energy-absorbing provisions in the steering control system.
5. Safety door latches and hinges.
6. Safety anchorage of seats, including adequate strength of seat adjusters and seat frame combinations and anchorage of folding seats.
7. Four-way flashers.
8. Safety glass and glazing materials.
9. Hydraulic service brake systems.
10. Standard bumper heights.
11. A standard gear quadrant (PRNDL) for vehicles equipped with automatic transmissions.
12. Windshield wipers and washers, including coverage of a larger windshield area than has been standard.
13. Provision of glare reduction surfaces.
14. Control of air pollution through compliance with the standard proposed by the Health, Education and Welfare Department Dec. 31, 1965, for equipment on all vehicles to control polluting emissions.
15. Standards for tire and safety rims.
16. Back-up lights.
17. Rear view mirror or mirrors.
18. Window and door controls recessed or made of break-off materials.
19. Recessed or padded ash trays and lighters.
20. Padded arm rests.
21. Padding of seat backs to protect rear seat passengers.
22. Head rests for protection of front seat passengers from whiplash.
23. Side marker devices.

The birds and the Siamese cat and I are the early risers around here. Up with the shining sun and so to polishing shoes.

Flick! Flick! Slap! Slap! "Stand back, cat! I am the fastest brush in the West!"

Horatio Alger Jr. made a shoeshiner of me. I read him for fun and profit.

In "Rags to Riches," the boy hero shined shoes. One day he shined the shoes of a Rich Banker. The Banker accidentally dropped his wallet. The boy hero fell on the poke like a loose football.

He returned it to the Banker and was richly rewarded by a job behind the wicket. Honesty was the best policy—just as grandma said.

("It helps a little if you charge high interest rates, too," said my grandfather from behind his newspaper.)

Anyway, I gave up my idea of robbing trains and giving to the poor.

The trick was to get a shoeshine box and wait for a Banker who fumbled.

At the time I was doing my hitch for the board of education in a do-it-yourself course called manual training.

I got some boards — the teacher sawed them. He had found out that I had no gift for tools and would likely saw myself in half. I put the wood in a vise and began to plane it.

For reasons unknown to me—(and almost impossible)—wood must come out square on all sides. No matter how I planed, sawed, or sandpapered, one side always came out high.

The teacher and I both sweated over that box. He would plane it down even. I gave it a couple of strokes and it went out of focus.

☆ ☆ ☆

I'd have given the whole thing up. But I was red hot to get to shoeshining. Make contact and start becoming a banking millionaire. We were an ambitious bunch.

I planed and planed. And the shoebox got lower and lower.

It was a simple project. A flat box with a place to put your foot and a little shelf for polish and brushes. About two feet high, as I recall.

By this time, however, it was only a foot high — and rapidly getting lower.

When I got through planing the legs, the stand rocked like a boat.

☆ ☆ ☆

There were other more talented boys. We had all read Horatio Alger. They were making shoeshine stands, too.

The better ones were gaudy affairs with brass trimming tacked on.

The kids with talent had those. They stood high and beautiful and steady as a rock.

It was almost enough to send me back to train robbing.

☆ ☆ ☆

One thing I was ahead on. I was practicing shoe polishing at home. On a chair until the shoeshine stand was done.

The shoes in our household were like mirrors. I polished everybody's shoes.

The shoeshine stand was down to about six inches. Melting away and still rocking when I set it down.

The instructor gave it a few final licks with the plane.

He said: "I tell you what. Let's put some stuffing and upholstery on it and make it into a big pin cushion."

Which is why I am not a Rich Banker today. But the fastest brush in the West.

Hall County Can Use Inheritance Tax For Building

The State Justice Department said Thursday inheritance tax money can be used to finance an addition or expansion of an existing building which will serve as an adjunct to the Hall County Courthouse.

The department said such tax funds can be used even though the building on which the proposed work would be done is not physically connected to the existing courthouse.

In an opinion for Hall County Atty. Richard L. De Backer, the department noted a 1961 law permits use of inheritance tax funds for "the erection, planning, building and maintenance of the county courthouse."

The department said the law should be liberally construed in order to make the tax funds available for "alleviating the conditions caused by the inadequate and inefficient facilities for the administration of county government afforded by some existing courthouses."

Larry Ruth of Rising City and Douglas Evans of Lincoln, both Nebraska Wesleyan University students, are attending a model United Nations sessions in New York.

Hasebroock Acting Governor

State Sen. William H. Hasebroock of West Point assumed the governorship of Nebraska Thursday — in an acting capacity only.

Hasebroock, chairman of the Legislative Council, became next in line for the chief executive duties as those above him were all out of the state.

Governor Morrison is at Camp Ripley, Minn., visiting the Nebraska National Guard in training there. He'll be back at his desk Friday.

Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and Speaker of the Legislature Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, the next in command after Sorensen, were both in Washington to attend a conference.

Thus the responsibility of navigating the state fell to Hasebroock, a three-term senator — and a Republican.

"I'm real pleased to be here," he said, noting he has no intention of seeking the office permanently.

State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine would be next in line for the governor's duties. He is chairman of the Unicameral's Committee on Committees.

Bellevue Airman Slain In Thailand; Two Questioned

Bangkok, Thailand (AP) — An autopsy disclosed that U.S. Air Force S Sgt. Wayne Peroceshi, 35, of Bellevue, Neb., may have been kicked to death near the Udorn Air Base in Northeastern Thailand on Sunday.

Officials said Peroceshi had several broken ribs and serious head injuries. They said the head wounds were not fatal, but the broken ribs may have contributed to his death.

Thai newspapers said a second suspect was being questioned in connection with the slaying. Earlier, it was reported that police had brought in the driver of a pedicab.

Peroceshi's body was found in a field near the air base 400 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Flick! Flick! Slap! Slap! "Stand back, cat! I am the fastest brush in the West!"

Horatio Alger Jr. made a shoeshiner of me. I read him for fun and profit.

In "Rags to Riches," the boy hero shined shoes. One day he shined the shoes of a Rich Banker. The Banker accidentally dropped his wallet. The boy hero fell on the poke like a loose football.

He returned it to the Banker and was richly rewarded by a job behind the wicket. Honesty was the best policy—just as grandma said.

("It helps a little if you charge high interest rates, too," said my grandfather from behind his newspaper.)

☆ ☆ ☆

Anyway, I gave up my idea of robbing trains and giving to the poor.

The trick was to get a shoeshine box and wait for a Banker who fumbled.

At the time I was doing my hitch for the board of education in a do-it-yourself course called manual training.

I got some boards — the teacher sawed them. He had found out that I had no gift for tools and would likely saw myself in half. I put the wood in a vise and began to plane it.

For reasons unknown to me—(and almost impossible)—wood must come out square on all sides. No matter how I planed, sawed, or sandpapered, one side always came out high.

The teacher and I both sweated over that box. He would plane it down even. I gave it a couple of strokes and it went out of focus.

☆ ☆ ☆

I'd have given the whole thing up. But I was red hot to get to shoeshining. Make contact and start becoming a banking millionaire. We were an ambitious bunch.

I planed and planed. And the shoebox got lower and lower.

It was a simple project. A flat box with a place to put your foot and a little shelf for polish and brushes. About two feet high, as I recall.

By this time, however, it was only a foot high — and rapidly getting lower.

When I got through planing the legs, the stand rocked like a boat.

☆ ☆ ☆

There were other more talented boys. We had all read Horatio Alger. They were making shoeshine stands, too.

The better ones were gaudy affairs with brass trimming tacked on.

The kids with talent had those. They stood high and beautiful and steady as a rock.

It was almost enough to send me back to train robbing.

☆ ☆ ☆

One thing I was ahead on. I was practicing shoe polishing at home. On a chair until the shoeshine stand was done.

The shoes in our household were like mirrors. I polished everybody's shoes.

☆ ☆ ☆

The shoeshine stand was down to about six inches. Melting away and still rocking when I set it down.

The instructor gave it a few final licks with the plane.

He said: "I tell you what. Let's put some stuffing and upholstery on it and make it into a big pin cushion."

Which is why I am not a Rich Banker today. But the fastest brush in the West.

Hall County Can Use Inheritance Tax For Building

The State Justice Department said Thursday inheritance tax money can be used to finance an addition or expansion of an existing building which will serve as an adjunct to the Hall County Courthouse.

The department said such tax funds can be used even though the building on which the proposed work would be done is not physically connected to the existing courthouse.

In an opinion for Hall County Atty. Richard L. De Backer, the department noted a 1961 law permits use of inheritance tax funds for "the erection, planning, building and maintenance of the county courthouse."

The department said the law should be liberally construed in order to make the tax funds available for "alleviating the conditions caused by the inadequate and inefficient facilities for the administration of county government afforded by some existing courthouses."

Hasebroock Acting Governor

State Sen. William H. Hasebroock of West Point assumed the governorship of Nebraska Thursday — in an acting capacity only.

Hasebroock, chairman of the Legislative Council, became next in line for the chief executive duties as those above him were all out of the state.

Governor Morrison is at Camp Ripley, Minn., visiting the Nebraska National Guard in training there. He'll be back at his desk Friday.

Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and Speaker of the Legislature Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud, the next in command after Sorensen, were both in Washington to attend a conference.

Thus the responsibility of navigating the state fell to Hasebroock, a three-term senator — and a Republican.

"I'm real pleased to be here," he said, noting he has no intention of seeking the office permanently.

State Sen. Elvin Adamson of Valentine would be next in line for the governor's duties. He is chairman of the Unicameral's Committee on Committees.

Bellevue Airman Slain In Thailand; Two Questioned

Bangkok, Thailand (AP) — An autopsy disclosed that U.S. Air Force S. Sgt. Wayne Peroceshi, 35, of Bellevue, Neb., may have been kicked to death near the Udorn Air Base in Northeastern Thailand on Sunday.

Officials said Peroceshi had several broken ribs and serious head injuries. They said the head wounds were not fatal, but the broken ribs may have contributed to his death.

Thai newspapers said a second suspect was being questioned in connection with the slaying. Earlier, it was reported that police had brought in the driver of a pedicab.

Peroceshi's body was found in a field near the air base 400 miles northeast of Bangkok.

Reagan Deplores 'Hyphens'

Washington (UPI) — Actor Ronald Reagan, Republican nominee for governor of California, deplored "hyphenated Republicans" and "hyphenated-Americans" Thursday and said he would shun appeals for bloc votes in his campaign.

Speaking specifically of Negroes, he said he believed they were concerned about the same problems as other Americans. He suggested Negro voters should give Republicans a chance because the GOP was not in power when their problems developed.

At the same time, Reagan expressed doubt that all civil rights problems could be solved by law. He voiced the belief that some civil rights laws had been passed as "a grandstand stunt" although he subscribed to their goals.

"We tend to forget that they haven't accomplished what we wanted," said Reagan, an active supporter of Barry M. Goldwater for president in 1964.

Reagan ended a two-day visit, including a side-trip to Gettysburg, Pa., for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's endorsement, with speeches before the National Press Club and the staff of the Republican National Committee.

The new hero of GOP conservatives told the press club he would campaign for the votes of individuals, not of blocs, in his effort to unseat democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. Anyone voting for him would be buying his philosophy, he said.

R. F. Kennedy Steals Stage From Ruins

Athens (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy stole the stage Thursday from the historic Acropolis.

Scores of tourists, many of them Americans, left their sightseeing of the ancient ruins to mob Kennedy as he arrived to spend an hour at the Greek shrine.

Despite efforts to remain unobtrusive, the New York Democrat, accompanied by an aide and a guide, was quickly recognized and surrounded by a large throng.

The tourists shoved and pushed each other to thrust forward their hands for handshakes and train their cameras on the boyish looking senator.

Many cheered him and pressed forward asking for autographs.

Dr. Henry Robinson, of the American School of Classical Studies, now engaged on excavation work in Athens, acted as Kennedy's guide.

Kennedy listened attentively as Robinson traced Athens' classical history and its relation to the Acropolis.

Kennedy and his wife arrived from Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, after a tumultous 13-day unofficial visit to South and East Africa.

Informed sources at the Vatican Thursday said Kennedy would have an audience with Pope Paul VI, probably Saturday, during a stopover in Rome.

"Certainly they will discuss the world situation, with emphasis on the war in Viet Nam and Sen. Kennedy's recent travels in Africa," a Vatican source said.

Steen Asks Clarification Of State Drinking Rules

State Game Commission Director Mel Steen said Thursday that the 1967 Legislature will be asked to "clarify" the state law prohibiting consumption of alcoholic beverages on state property.

Steen told commission members that although state law prohibits drinking of beer or liquor on state property, possession of alcoholic beverages is not an offense.

Another aspect of the problem, he said, is a recent attorney general's opinion holding that the state law cannot be enforced on federal land or waters leased by the state.

Beer At McConaughy

He noted that Lake McConaughy near Ogallala was built by the Central Nebraska Public Power District, which permits the dispensing of beer on the lake front.

However, the Merritt Reservoir near Valentine, built by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, but now a state enterprise, prohibits the sale or consumption of beer.

Steen said the Salt Valley Lakes near Lincoln are controlled by preventive regulations, but there is a legal question whether state enforcement cannot be extended to portions of land held by the federal government, which has no prohibitory law.

Drinking, Recreation

Assistant Director Willard Barbee said, "We've about reached the point where we have to acknowledge that drinking goes with outdoor recreation."

Steen said major question is at what level should it be controlled.

In other action, the commission agreed to review its policy governing the approval of special hunting permits.

The commission was told the "greatest deluge" of permit applications in Nebraska history has resulted in a large outcry from applicants who failed to get permits.

Permits are issued on a "first come, first served basis," but commission members have received a variety of complaints from hunters who failed to secure permits for deer, antelope or wild turkey.

Norris Announces Reduced Power Rates Set For July 1

Norris Public Power District announced a rate reduction effective July 1 which will mean an annual savings to customers of $130,000

The new rate schedule will apply to farm, non-farm and town residential customers and those with approved-type electric water heaters, Norris General Manager Lester Trussell of Beatrice announced.

Also benefiting from the reduction, he said will be schools, churches and residential customers using electricity exlusively for heating and all other normal purposes.

Lower power costs together with the acquisition of commercial and industrial loads, and increased efficiency in operations, were listed as factors contributing to the reduction.

The rate cut, largest made by Norris since it was organized in 1933, will reduce revenue from residential customers by approximately 10%, Trussell said.

★ ★ ★

Rural Electricity Rates In State Found To Vary

Electricity rates charged by the 36 rural public power systems operating in Nebraska vary considerably, an analysis disclosed.

A survey by the Nebraska Rural Electric Association showed rates for the first 1,000 kilowatt hours per month range from a low of $19 17 to a high of $28 50

The low rate is charged by the Cedar-Knox district at Hartington. The top rate is charged by the Niobrara Valley district at O'Neill.

For the first 2,000 KWH in a month, the Panhandle district of Alliance has the lowest rate, $31 per month. The KBR district at Ainsworth has the top rate, $47.50.

Holidays Proclaimed

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson proclaimed next Sunday as Father's Day. He also designated the current week as Gas Industry Week, Sept. 17 as Citizenship Day and the week starting Sept. 17 as Constitution Week.

Callan Hit For 'Remaining Mute' On Farm Prices

Fremont (AP)—State Republican Chairman Walter Witthoff of Fremont said Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., "has remained almost mute on the question of farm prices, even while the Democratic administration places the blame for inflation on the farmer."

Witthoff said Callan may have learned "that Democratic congressmen cannot oppose the administration, even when their own constituents' interests are at stake"

"People in the First Congressional District are tired of a rubber stamp congressman." Witthoff's statement concluded.

Steen said major question is at what level should it be controlled.

In other action, the commission agreed to review its policy governing the approval of special hunting permits.

The commission was told the "greatest deluge" of permit applications in Nebraska history has resulted in a large outcry from applicants who failed to get permits.

Permits are issued on a "first come, first served basis," but commission members have received a variety of complaints from hunters who failed to secure permits for deer, antelope or wild turkey.

Norris Announces Reduced Power Rates Set For July 1

Norris Public Power District announced a rate reduction effective July 1 which will mean an annual savings to customers of $130,000.

The new rate schedule will apply to farm, non-farm and town residential customers and those with approved-type electric water heaters, Norris General Manager Lester Trussell of Beatrice announced.

Also benefiting from the reduction, he said will be schools, churches and residential customers using electricity exlusively for heating and all other normal purposes.

Lower power costs together with the acquisition of commercial and industrial loads, and increased efficiency in operations, were listed as factors contributing to the reduction.

The rate cut, largest made by Norris since it was organized in 1933, will reduce revenue from residential customers by approximately 10%, Trussell said.

Rural Electricity Rates In State Found To Vary

Electricity rates charged by the 36 rural public power systems operating in Nebraska vary considerably, an analysis disclosed.

A survey by the Nebraska Rural Electric Association showed rates for the first 1,000 kilowatt hours per month range from a low of $19.17 to a high of $28.50.

The low rate is charged by the Cedar-Knox district at Hartington. The top rate is charged by the Niobrara Valley district at O'Neill.

For the first 2,000 KWH in a month, the Panhandle district of Alliance has the lowest rate, $31 per month. The KBR district at Ainsworth has the top rate, $47.50.

Holidays Proclaimed

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson proclaimed next Sunday as Father's Day. He also designated the current week as Gas Industry Week, Sept. 17 as Citizenship Day and the week starting Sept. 17 as Constitution Week.

Callan Hit For 'Remaining Mute' On Farm Prices

Fremont (AP)—State Republican Chairman Walter Witthoff of Fremont said Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., "has remained almost mute on the question of farm prices, even while the Democratic administration places the blame for inflation on the farmer."

Witthoff said Callan may have learned "that Democratic congressmen cannot oppose the administration, even when their own constituents' interests are at stake."

"People in the First Congressional District are tired of a rubber stamp congressman," Witthoff's statement concluded.

New Freedom Meal Good For Farmers

State Sen. George C. Gerdes of Alliance said Thursday the new Nebraska Freedom Meal developed by the State Agresearch Program "is of major significance to the farmers of Nebraska."

The balanced cereal meal, using wheat, milo, corn, soy meal and nonfat dry milk, is being offered to the U. S. Food for Peace program to feed the hungry peoples of the free world.

Gerdes said that since one-quarter of the food product is debranned wheat, this could open a new market for Nebraska wheat.

The assortment of grains being used can open new markets for almost all of the state's farmers.

Gerdes said he hoped it will be possible to have the manufacturing done in the state, thus increasing the state's economy.

Gov. Frank Morrison and Pearle Finigan in announcing the new meal earlier this week hoped to formally present the new formula to the U.S. Department of Agriculture in early July and later to the White House.

National Crime Council To Hold Hearing Here

The National Council on Crime and Delinquency (NCCD) which is making a state-by state inventory of correctional programs, will hold a public hearing June 28 at the State Capitol, State Institutions Director George Morris said Thursday.

The NCCD is preparing a national report of findings and recommendations for the President's Commission on Law Enforcement and Administration, headed by U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

The Nebraska meeting will gather information from correctional personnel and other knowledgeable persons "to gain the thinking of state leaders on problems and priorities" and "to discuss future roles of the Federal government in helping to meet those state and local needs."

Morris said the NCCD would be represented at the hearing by Bernard Vogelgesang, a staff member.

One of the questions for which the NCCD is seeking answers is, "What correctional programs are the most promising in preventing first offenders in leading to a career in crime?"

President Johnson appointed the special 19-member commission to make advisory recommendations in view of the increasing crime rates, particularly among younger offenders.

Curtis Wants White House Action On Farm Problem

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Thursday that stiffer action will have to be taken by Congress if the administration does not heed the Senate's warning in a farm-price resolution passed by a unanimous voice vote.

The resolution which the Nebraska lawmaker co-sponsored directed the administration not to wage its anti-inflation campaign at the expense of the farmer.

It said Congress intends for the secretary of agriculture to establish and maintain "such orderly marketing conditions for agricultural commodities in interstate commerce as will establish, as the prices to farmers, parity prices" for all agricultural products.

The Senate's answer to Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman's attempt to blame farmers for the inflationary first five months of 1966, the measure now goes to the House, but will not have the force of law if passed there. It will not go to the President for his approval: it is simply an expression of the will of Congress.

"The essence of this resolution is to notify all branches of the administration that all of the action and policies of the government should be directed toward helping the farmer to increase his prices," Curtis said following the Senate's action.

The measure directs the administration not to take action that will result in any way in lowering the farmer's income.

Commission Rules No Discrimination In Saturday Jobs

Washington (UPI) — The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission ruled Thursday that no religious discrimination is involved if an employer requires all his employees to work on Saturday.

Saturday is the sabbath for Jews, Seventh Day Adventists and some other sects.

The commission said it had received several complaints.

State Will Use All Library Funds

Virtually every penny of Nebraska's $899,270 allocation under the new federal library development program for public and private schools will be used before the June 30 deadline, officials said Thursday.

Library Services Chief Lester Harvey of the State Education Department reported second round allotments totaling $47,686 in federal funds have been sent to 186 public schools, using up the last of the public school share of Nebraska's allocation.

Dr. Dean Lusienski, director of the private school program, said the $124,126 share for Nebraska's non-public schools will be used before the present fiscal year ends, either in book loans to private schools or stocking of the private school library center.

The federal money, which need not be matched by local dollars, was available under title II of the elementary and secondary education act.

Major second round allotments to public schools included $10,422 to the Omaha school district, $5,402 to Lincoln, $1,656 to Omaha Westside, $1,048 to Grand Island and $928 to North Platte.

Lincoln's second round allotment will be used for "Project Discovery," a program to saturate two junior high schools, Irving and Whittier, with audio-visual materials, according to library coordinator Bill Robertson.

The second round money became available when 172 public schools rejected their initial allotments. Largest single allotment rejected was $5,596 available to Beatrice.

Dr. Lusienski said 250 private schools serving about 60,000 pupils—the total non-public enrollment is 62,721 — are now participating in the federal program.

He said 36 private schools have decided not to participate.

Lost Wyoming Scout Located

Wheatland, Wyo. (AP) — Bob Christiansen, 11-year-old Boy Scout from Lusk, was found safely Wednesday after an all-night search in the rugged Laramie Peak area northwest of Wheatland.

The Boy Scout executive, Ted Hanley of Scottsbluff, Neb., said the youth was in good condition and had displayed good judgment in remaining in one place until rescuers found him.

Christiansen became separated from other Boy Scouts at the Harris Lodge camp when he and some other Scouts climbed to a high spot to observe the sunset.

Divis Raps Illegal Fireworks Hauling

State Fire Marshal Joseph Divis said Thursday truckers are hauling illegal fireworks into Nebraska from neighboring states.

Divis said his deputies have turned up cases where truckers will take orders for the illegal explosives and buy them in other states, making deliveries when they return to Nebraska.

He said this is a violation of both federal and state laws, which carry penalties of up to $1,000 fines and 30 days in prison.

"We need stronger legislation to keep these fireworks out of Nebraska, because many people are getting hurt," he said

Divis said Missouri, Kansas and South Dakota have less rigid statutes prohibiting bigger fireworks, like cherry bombs.

"I know the truckers are picking it up and selling in Nebraska, he asserted.

He indicated a crackdown, with search warrants at state-lines, was imminent, with the fourth of July holiday approaching.

State Will Use All Library Funds

Virtually every penny of Nebraska's $899,270 allocation under the new federal library development program for public and private schools will be used before the June 30 deadline, officials said Thursday.

Library Services Chief Lester Harvey of the State Education Department reported second round allotments totaling $47,686 in federal funds have been sent to 186 public schools, using up the last of the public school share of Nebraska's allocation.

Dr. Dean Lusienski, director of the private school program, said the $124,126 share for Nebraska's non-public schools will be used before the present fiscal year ends, either in book loans to private schools or stocking of the private school library center.

The federal money, which need not be matched by local dollars, was available under title II of the elementary and secondary education act.

Major second round allotments to public schools included $10,422 to the Omaha school district, $5,402 to Lincoln, $1,656 to Omaha Westside, $1,048 to Grand Island and $928 to North Platte.

Lincoln's second round allotment will be used for "Project Discovery," a program to saturate two junior high schools, Irving and Whittier, with audio-visual materials, according to library coordinator Bill Robertson.

The second round money became available when 172 public schools rejected their initial allotments. Largest single allotment rejected was $5,596 available to Beatrice.

Dr. Lusienski said 250 private schools serving about 60,000 pupils—the total non-public enrollment is 62,721 — are now participating in the federal program.

He said 36 private schools have decided not to participate.

Lost Wyoming Scout Located

Wheatland, Wyo. (AP) — Bob Christiansen, 11-year-old Boy Scout from Lusk, was found safely Wednesday after an all-night search in the rugged Laramie Peak area northwest of Wheatland.

The Boy Scout executive, Ted Hanley of Scottsbluff, Neb., said the youth was in good condition and had displayed good judgment in remaining in one place until rescuers found him.

Christiansen became separated from other Boy Scouts at the Harris Lodge camp when he and some other Scouts climbed to a high spot to observe the sunset.

Divis Raps Illegal Fireworks Hauling

State Fire Marshal Joseph Divis said Thursday truckers are hauling illegal fireworks into Nebraska from neighboring states.

Divis said his deputies have turned up cases where truckers will take orders for the illegal explosives and buy them in other states, making deliveries when they return to Nebraska.

He said this is a violation of both federal and state laws, which carry penalties of up to $1,000 fines and 30 days in prison.

"We need stronger legislation to keep these fireworks out of Nebraska, because many people are getting hurt," he said.

Divis said Missouri, Kansas and South Dakota have less rigid statutes prohibiting bigger fireworks, like cherry bombs.

"I know the truckers are picking it up and selling in Nebraska, he asserted.

He indicated a crackdown, with search warrants at statelines, was imminent, with the fourth of July holiday approaching.

HER betrothal is revealed

Of much more than casual interest this morning is the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Militzer of the engagement of their daughter, Susan Audrey, to Lt. Frederick Corbett Hathorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hathorn of Lafayette, Ind.

The wedding will take place in December.

Miss Militzer attends Colorado College at Colorado Springs, Colo., where she is a member of Alpha sorority and of the Tour Choir.

Lt. Hathorn, a June graduate of the U S. Air Force Academy, will enter training for the Airborne Infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga., in July.

MAPLE VILLAGE

Graduations, past and present, are news in Maple Village. And a birthday celebration completes the activity picture here.

Good luck to Ens. Gayle Russell McAdams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell L. McAdams, who is newly graduated from the University of Nebraska where he was commissioned. The Naval officer left this week for Newport, R.I., to begin training at Communications School. After eight weeks in Newport, Ens. McAdams will report to Norfolk, Va., the beginning of at least a four-year tour of duty with the Navy.

Preparations for a class reunion are keeping Mrs. Bennett T. Martin busy. A member of the 1951 graduating class of Lincoln High School, Mrs. Martin is helping organize this first reunion for her classmates. The event is scheduled for July 2 and will be held at the Lincoln Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Aldean Lienemann hosted a birthday dinner on Sunday, June 12 for their sister-in-law, Mrs. Henry Lienemann, of Adams. In addition to the celebrant's husband, those who helped celebrate the event were Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Lienemann, Mr and Mrs. Leon Lienemann, Mr. and Mrs. Dallen Buss, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Birdwell, all of Lincoln, and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Theasmeyer, of Beatrice

Here is news of another class reunion —and this one involves a former Lincoln resident, Mrs. Jerry Beranek. Mr. and Mrs. Beranek and their sons, Buckley and Jay, came from Indianapolis, Ind., for a visit with relatives. But the trip was timed to coincide with a reunion of Mrs. Beranek's class from St. Elizabeth Hospital School of Nursing.

During their stay in town Mr. and Mrs. Beranek and their sons are dividing their time between Mrs. Beranek's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Keith E. Alschwede and their family—and Mr. Beranek's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Beranek.

EASTBOROUGH

Eastborough provides a combination of old and recent news. Visitors and new arrivals have kept things "jumping" here.

A family involved with both teaching and being taught has moved to Lincoln from Lexington. A sincere welcome to the Robert Dykes! After 24 years in Lexington, Mr. Dyke has accepted a position with the State Dept. of Education here. David Dyke, a current graduate of the University of Nebraska College of Medicine, will serve an internship at Ford Hospital in Detroit. Mich. Kathy Dyke is presently attending Wayne State College. Mrs. Dyke plans to teach at Culler Junior High here in Lincoln.

Things have been "running" (pardon the pun) around the Warren Taylor household lately, as the Taylors recently returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where they saw the Memorial Day classic, the Indianapolis 500 Race. The Taylors regularly attended this race when they resided in Indianapolis four years ago. So they included visits with many old friends on their trip.

More recent news at the Taylors' has to do with a visit from Mr. and Mrs. James E. Taylor of Chadron. The senior Taylors spent their yearly vacation visiting with their son's family here in Eastborough.

Some belated news from the Don E. Mitchell family has to do with the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. David H. Brewster, Mike and Sidney, from Wichita, Kan., on May 6. The Brewsters spent the weekend with the Mitchells to celebrate Mr. Brewster's birthday. This is an annual get-together for these two families, who have many goings-on in May. Along with the May 7 birthday was Mrs. Mitchell's birthday on May 21, and the Brewsters' wedding anniversary on May 30.

Church Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Mary Barbara Bahr, daughter of Mrs. Len Schnell of Hastings, and the late Fred Bahr of Barneston, to Jerry Dean Searcey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Searcey of Hickman, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, June 11, at the First Presbyterian Church in Hastings. The chancel was decorated with white chrysanthemums and yellow gladioli for the 2 o'clock service, which was read by Dr. S. G. Kessler.

Mrs. Jack Malicky of Beatrice, as the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Dayle Kruse of Nelson, and Miss Donna Soares, Hastings, wore Empire frocks of maize-toned crepe and brocade. They carried nosegays of yellow daisies.

Serving his brother as best man was Mike Searcey of Hickman, and the ushers were Bob Zvolanek of Liberty; Gary Neuman, Odell; Jack Malicky, Beatrice; and Gene Searcey, Lincoln.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her stepfather, Len Schnell of Hastings, wore a gown of white satin fashioned in the period mode. Appliques of pearl-patterned the long-sleeved embroidered Alencon lace bodice, and were repeated on the sheath skirt, which was completed by a full detachable overskirt of the satin extending into a cotillion train. She carried a cascade of white orchids.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Lake Okoboji, Iowa, Mr. and Mrs. Searcey will live in Lincoln, at 344 So. 26th.

Wedding Revealed

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Anderson of Saginaw, Mich., formerly of Lincoln, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Gayle, to Jack Masarie of Burlingame, Calif., on Saturday, June 11. The wedding took place in Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Masarie, both June graduates of the Juilliard School of Music in New York City, will make their home in Detroit, where the bridegroom will be a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The bride's parents are former members of the Lincoln Schools faculty.

AUGUST wedding is planned

An announcement which will be of considerable interest to Lincoln is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phillips Tallman of Pueblo, Colo., who reveal the betrothal of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Gregory Gullick, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Gullick, also of Pueblo.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 6.

Miss Tallman is the granddaughter of Mrs. Frank Boehmer, and of Mrs. Frank Tallman, both of Lincoln, and the great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Chapin.

Think all wagons are too big or too small?

Meet the Mind-Changer.
(Rambler Classic)

Betty and Phil Mason knew what they wanted: a station wagon with size and style and sass. They hadn't considered a Rambler until Betty met the Mind-Changer, a Rambler Classic 770 Wagon. It's bigger, bolder —with plenty of room for people and paraphernalia. (More total head room —leg room—hip room than the average intermediate wagon!) Betty thought the interior was surprisingly good-looking. She tried out the coil-spring reclining bucket seats* ("Very comfortable.") and poked around in the lockable hidden compartment. Phil took a test drive, went for the Mind-Changing difference our big 327-cubic-inch V-8* makes. He was surprised that many extra features like Double-Safety brakes and that gleaming roof rack are standard, at no extra cost. Betty and Phil had decided on the ideal-size Classic Wagon even before they heard that prices are now at their model-year lowest. Why don't you test-drive a Mind-Changer today? Courtesies

Miss Joann Aldape, who will become the bride of Gregg Ortiz on Saturday, June 18, has been honored at a series of courtesies in recent weeks.

The bride-elect, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Aldape, was presented a personal shower recently when Mrs. Wayne Harms was hostess to 12 guests at her home.

Also entertaining for Miss Aldape recently was Miss Tammy Miers who was hostess to office co-workers of the honoree at an informal bridal shower.

A linen shower was presented to the soon-to-be bride at a party for which Mrs. Mike Arenas was hostess at her home recently.

For her wedding, which will take place Saturday afternoon at Sacred Heart Church, the bride-to-be has chosen her sister, Miss Shirley Aldape, as her only attendant.

Gary Powell will serve Mr. Ortiz as best man.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Quintin Ortiz, the bridegroom-elect is a former student at Luther College, Wahoo, and Wayne State College.

♣J9		♣AK42

1. Win the club with the queen and cash the ace. If both opponents follow suit, cash the king, hoping for a 3-3 break which would give you a ninth trick.

If the clubs turn out to be divided 4-2 (or 5-1), play a low spade, also playing low from dummy! Win the heart or diamond return and play a low spade to the ace Assuming that nothing of interest has occurred, lead a low spade towards the Q-8

The effect of this method of play is that you make the contract if. 1. the clubs are divided 3-3; 2. either opponent has the singleton king of spades; 3. either opponent has the doubleton king of spades; 4. the spades are divided 3-3; 5. South has any number of spades which include the king

Note that the low spade play the first time the suit is led caters to the case where North is dealt the K-x of spades, which you would not know if you started the suit by playing the ace and another spade. This possibility adds substantially to your chances of making the contract

2 The best method of play is to win the spade and lead a low club from dummy. If South has the queen, he will presumably play it, and this will give you three club tricks instead of the two you started with. The defense will then probably cash two spades and shift to a diamond

Take the ace, cash the A-K of hearts and jack of clubs, enter dummy with a trump, and discard two diamonds on the A-K of clubs. This method of play succeeds if the trumps are divided 3-2

If, when the low club is played from dummy at trick two, South also plays low, you have to assume that he does not have the queen. In that case, play the nine If South has the ten, the nine will force the queen And again you make three club tricks

The contract is not certain by any line of play, but the method suggested offers the best chance of acquiring a tenth trick

for reunion festivities are underway

Reunion time for the Lincoln High School class of 1956 is just around the corner, and the committee chosen to plan the variety of activity for the weekend of June 25 and 26, is hard at work.

We hear that fun is the key to the whole thing, and fun is what the reunion group will have.

The details of the two-day reunion are about completed, but on Wednesday evening the committee was in session again at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Haight.

I gave a coffee recently and stayed up past midnight he night before, baking late-nut bread and four inds of cookies Of the 20 vomen who came, nine ook only token servings, and ıx refused even to sample ny baking! One had the ıerve to announce to everyone that she belonged to some crazy kind of diet club and was on an 18-day diet with a pack of other women. I didn't sleep a wink that night. I was even too sick to cry over the way my baking had been scorned. I will never entertain again as long as I live. Do you blame me?

THRU ENTERTAINING

DEAR THRU: I appreciate your disappointment, but look at the other side. Those who are fighting the battle of the bulge should not be made to feel guilty if they count calories. A gracious hostess appears to take no notice of how much or how little her guests eat.

The purpose of entertaining is not to show off one's baking, but to show one's guests a good time. So entertain again, for the sheer joy of fellowship. And have diet wafers, and a nocal beverage available for the dieters. They will love you for it.

DEAR CONCERNED: Yes. And he must register for the draft WITHIN 6 months of his arrival in the United States.

BRIDE
at evening ceremony

The chancel of St. Paul Methodist Church was appointed with tall arrangements of chrysanthemums and gladioli in yellow and white for the wedding of Miss Jean Marie Eno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle B. Eno, and Robert Thomas Jett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Jett, on Saturday evening, June 11. Dr. Clarence Forsberg read the lines of the 8 o'clock service.

Empire frocks of silk organza and crepe in ivory and avocado green were worn by Mrs. Douglas Osterholm of Omaha, who was her twin sister's matron of honor; Miss Camille DeVriendt, the bridesmaid; and the bridesmatron, Mrs. William Baller, Columbia, Mo. They carried white pompons and yellow roses in colonial arrangements.

John Clayton Abel served Mr. Jett as best man, and the ushers were David M. Jett, Thomas E. Jett, Larry L. Hatheway and Craig Dodge.

The bride selected ivory satin for her wedding gown. The sleeveless sheath was veiled by a long-sleeved, full-length coat of Italian silk lace, draped into back fullness and continuing into an aisle-wide train. A circlet of satin roses held to the head her train-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Jett, both June graduates of the University of Nebraska, will reside in Salem, Ore., where the bridegroom, a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, will enter Williamette University College of Law. The bride will teach in Salem Schools.

If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, substract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you. Cowboys' Cowboy

While Oklahoma State's Cowboys are trying to win the College World Series in Omaha, an ex-Cowboy who is still a cowboy is trying to win a calf roping and steer wrestling title in the NEBRASKAland Days Rodeo at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium.

Calf roper and steer wrestler Don Feddersen is a grad-uate of Oklahoma State (when it was called Oklahoma A&M) and when they were called Aggies instead of Cowboys.

And as an alumnus, the 36-year-old cowboy who spent five years of his life in Sidney, Neb., is keeping track of the Cowboys' (baseball type) progress in Omaha.

But at the same time, Feddersen also is eyeing the calves and steers that will come out of the chutes at Pershing Auditorium this weekend.

Rodeo Recruiting, Too

A school has never been put on probation for recruiting of rodeo performers, but Feddersen notes that cowboys are chased by some colleges just as football players are by most colleges.

"When I graduated from high school in El Reno, Okla., I had scholarship offers from schools to compete in rodeos," he recalled Thursday while looking out over the dirt floor at Pershing Auditorium.

"Sul Ross State and Hardin-Simmons along with a few other schools were giving scholarships and recruiting for cowboys just like football players at that time," he continued. "And I assume they are still doing it."

Changed Problems

Feddersen went from wrestling with society's problems as a case worker at $230 per month after graduating from Oklahoma A & M in 1954 to wrestling with steers, a move that netted him $14,000 in 1959.

The Cowboys' cowboy has seen rodeos grow to the point where cowboys were competing for more than three million dollars in prize money each of the past three years.

And Feddersen expects to see the Lincoln Jaycees-sponsored NEBRASKAland Rodeo take its place among the top rodeos in the nation.

Credit To Jaycees

"There's no reason this rodeo couldn't rank in the top four or five," he points out, giving credit to the Jaycees and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

"They have brought in good cowboys and good stock for this year's rodeo," he continues. "And they have done a great job of getting the auditorium ready.

"This is an outstanding place for a rodeo," he noted spreading his arms to indicate he was talking of Pershing Auditorium. "There are no posts to obstruct view and every seat here gives an excellent view of the action."

No Drawbacks Indoors

Feddersen sees no drawbacks to holding a rodeo indoors such as at Pershing.

"In fact, there are a lot of advantages," he points out. A rodeo is better indoors. We perform indoors in such places as San Francisco, Oklahoma City, Houston and at Omaha."

The only problem to an indoor rodeo is with the stock, Hoss Inman, who provides the animals for a number of rodeos, notes and this is only a temporary problem.

"Most animals have to be bucked a couple of times indoors," Inman explains. "But after they get used to the indoors, there is no problem."

The cowboys are happy with the Pershing facility and the horses have no vote. And it's air-conditioned for the fans.

Mengert Leads In U.S. Open

San Francisco (AP) — Al Mengert, a hulking 200-pound outsider from the Pacific Northwest, uncorked a dazzling streak of 3s Thursday for a three-under-par 67 that sent him into the first round lead of the 66th National Open Golf Championship.

Knocking in six 3s in the space of eight holes and not getting a bogey, the 37-year-old pro from Tacoma, Wash., who has never won a major event, grabbed a one-stroke lead over former titleholder Gene Littler and young Don Massengale, tied at 68.

The 35-year-old Littler, 1961 Open champion, and the 29-year-old Massengale played cautious, defensive golf over the 6,719-yard, par 70 Olympic Country Club layout for two-under-par scores that stood for two hours before Mengert made his charge.

The sentimental favorite of the gallery of 14,759, the 53-year-old Ben Hogan, played the course with grim determination and characteristic steadiness, shooting 72.

"Putting was the best part of my game," said Ben, who was deprived of a fifth National Open here 11 years ago when he was beaten in a playoff by the obscure Jack Fleck. Fleck shot a 79 Thursday.

Two local heroes also failed to make a serious bid in the opening round, started in dense fog and finished in bright sunshine.

Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open winner who shortly afterward was hit with a circulatory ailment, used two sets of hand warmers in touring the course in 73. Tony Lema, 1964 British Open King, was among those tied at 71, as was PGA Champion Dave Marr.

Behind Mengert, Littler and Massengale came one of the advance tournament choices, Bill Casper of Peacock Gap, Calif., rated one of the game's finest putters, who shot 34-35—69.

Tied at 70 were Doug Sanders, the leading money winner; chunky Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., winner of the Buick Open last week; Australian Kel Nagle, beaten by play-off for this title a year ago, and a 19-year-old San Francisco collegian, John Miller, who registered first as a caddy and then qualified. Miller is an amateur.

In the 71 group with Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema and Dave Marr were Bob Goalby, Tom Nieporte, and Wes Ellis Jr. Hogan at 72 was bracketed with a bunch of obscure dark-horses, including Stan Thirsk of Shawnee Mission, Kans.; Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo.; Jim Petersen of Hillsboro, Ore.; Ed Moehling of Golf, Ill., and another amateur, Charles Harrison of Atlanta.

Mengert, father of four, turned pro shortly after being runner-up to Congressman Jack Westland in the 1952 National Amateur at Seattle.

He had a series of teaching jobs, starting as a partner of Dave Marr and Mike Souchak at Winged Foot in Mamarneck, N.Y., and continuing with positions in New Jersey, St. Louis, Sacramento, Calif., and Phoenix. His present post is with the Tacoma Country and Golf Club in Tacoma, Wash.

He had success as an amateur, twice winning the National Jaycee crown, and has won state and sectional events as a pro, but he's never won an official PGA tournament. His best previous showing in the Open was 13th at Baltusrol in 1954.

"I qualified both locally and sectionally for this tournament with scores of 137," he said. "I came here feeling I could do well."

Mengert had eight straight pars before he got his first birdie at the 429-yard ninth. He boomed his best drive down the narrow fairway but sent his pitch 25 feet past the cup. He sank.

COWBOYS WIN, 6-1

Southern Cal Avenges Loss To Buckeyes, 5-1

... COLLEGE WORLD SERIES

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha — A scrappy Oklahoma State team battled to its third straight win in the College World Series here with a 6-1 victory over St. Johns's here Thursday night.

Southern California threw the championship race into a three-game affair when the top-ranked Trojans broke a 19-game Ohio State winning streak with a 5-1 victory in the second game Thursday night.

The USC win avenged an earlier 6-2 loss to the Buckeyes in the series and left Southern Cal, Ohio State and Oklahoma State all with one loss in the double-elimination tournament.

In a special draw following Thursday night's games, Oklahoma State drew the bye into Saturday night. Ohio State and Southern Cal will meet at 8 Friday night with the winner facing Oklahoma State at 8 p.m. Saturday for the championship.

The Cowboys are attempting to become only the fourth team in the 20 years of the series to win the championship after losing the opening game. Oklahoma State lost to Ohio State, 4-2, Monday night, but has since defeated North Carolina, Texas and St. John's.

The only other teams to win the title after an opening loss were Texas in 1950, Southern California in 1958 and again in 1963.

The Thursday night loss was the second straight for St. John's after two opening victories and eliminated them from the tournament.

A bases-loaded triple by sophomore third baseman Bob Toney sparked the Oklahoma State victory. St. John's had tied the score at 1-1 in the sixth inning Richie Freund scored on sacrifice fly by Dave Zimms. Oklahoma State came back in the bottom of the seventh with four runs to take the lead and insure the victory. Toney's bases-loaded triple to right field came after Frank Warrington and Tony Sellari had walked and Alan Johnson had singled. Toney then scored on a sacrifice fly to centerfield by Wayne Weatherly.

Reliever Warrington gained credit for the win, his second against no losses. He relieved starter Larry Burchart with the bases loaded and only one out in the sixth inning.

St. John's had loaded the bases on consecutive singles by Freund, Frank Madden and George Blednick off Burchart. Warrington came in and got Zimms to fly to centerfield with Freund scoring after the catch.

The Oklahoma State lefthander then got out of the jam by forcing pinch hitter Ralph Addonizio to ground out.

Oklahoma State scored its first run in the opening inning on a single by Selari and three straight walks. The final run scored with Ron McCord tripling and coming home on a fielder's choice.

Southern Cal pitching ace John Stewart won his 16th game without a loss this season as Ohio State errors gave the Trojans four unearned runs.

Stewart needed relief help after Ohio State put runners on first and second with one out in the eighth inning and the Trojans leading, 2-1.

Bill Lee came in to put out the rally and preserve the win.

What proved to be the winning run scored in the seventh inning when USC catcher Steve Sogge was safe on an error by Ohio State third baseman Jim Graham and was driven home by Fred Shuey's triple off the centerfield fence, 420-feet from home plate.

The Trojans wrapped up the victory with three runs in the ninth on two walks, two errors by Buckeye second baseman Rickey Copp and a single by Pat Harrison that drove in two of the runs.

The only Ohio State run was unearned in the fourth inning and scored when Russ Nagelson crossed the plate as USC first baseman Buddy Gordon dropped a throw at first base on an attempted double play.

... FORMER CHAMPS IN FIELD

By DON FORSYTHE

Championship duos from the last three tournaments are in the 71-team field opening the 13th annual Lincoln Country Club Swingfest today.

Back to defend their 1965 title are Bill Mowbray of Lincoln and Max Griffith of Kansas City, Mo. Others eyeing repeat titles are the 1964 champs, John Hoppe of Lincoln and Jack Fate of Kansas City, Mo., and the 1963 kings Bill Murrell of Lincoln and Dick Herman of Omaha.

But if play in Thursday's scotch foursome event is any indication there could be a new team at the top when firing in the 36-hole tourney ends Saturday afternoon.

Bill Harder of Lincoln and guest Maj. Gen. Tom Corbin of Bolling AFB, Washington, D.C., prevailed in Thursday's competition with a low net of 63, just a half-stroke better than the score posted by Don Pegler, Jr., of Lincoln and guest Gordon Jenkins of Fremont.

Harder and Corbin had a gross 76 and a 13-stroke handicap. The 74 gross total by Pegler and Jenkins put them second in that department, too.

Taking honors there were Matt Taber of Lincoln and Mike McCuistion of Lackland AFB, Tex., with a 69. They had to settle for seventh place in the handicap standings at 65, however.

Last year's scotch foursome champs, Bill Kimball of Lincoln and Harry Galloway of Bloomington, Ill., were early leaders Thursday, but their 64 didn't stand up.

Action this morning begins at 8:15, with a second flight scheduled to tee off at 1 p.m.

The record in the best-ball, handicap tourney was established in the inaugural 1954 tourney by Lee Chapin of Lincoln and Rod Smith of South Sioux City.

Since that time no winning team has been under the 120 mark.

Clowns' Antics Spice Nebraskaland Rodeo

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

"What a heckuva way to make a living."

That's what rodeo clown Pistol Holliday of Alden, Kan., hollered at an enthusiastic rodeo crowd as he was butted around the arena inside a barrel by Speedy Gonzalez, one of the orneriest bulls on the rodeo circuit.

The scene was the first of four performances of the Nebraskaland Championship Rodeo at Pershing Auditorium Thursday night.

The barrel performance was the conclusion of the day's action and a thrilling one at that.

The appearance of Speedy Gonzalez is always a rodeo highlight since the bull, owned by rodeo producer Hoss Inman of Lamar, Colo., is too tempermental to be ridden. The task of entertaining the audience with this bull is thus left to the clowns.

The respect the cowboys have for Speedy Gonzalez is quickly evidenced by the rapid clearing of the arena as Gonzalez enters.

Working with partner Tom LeGrand, of Ponca City, Okla., Holliday, says of their antics with the bull, "You've got to think quick. If anything happens it's all over."

Holliday continues, "Gonzalez is mean—meaner than any Brahma bull—and he's quick. He can hurt you, and he will if he can."

But the main task of Holliday and LeGrand, like any other rodeo clowns is to protect Brahma bull riders after they are thrown. The clowns must lure the bull away from the thrown rider and help him to safety.

It's a dangerous job as both admit. "But people like to see excitement," Holliday explains. "We don't cry if we get hurt."

The rodeo continues with 8 p.m. performances tonight and Saturday and the final program at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Nebraskaland Rodeo leaders after Thursday night:

Bareback Bronc Riding—1. Jack Buschbom, Mobridge, S.D., 55 (Lindy); 2. Bucky Baker, Rochester, Minn., 50 (Red Ink); 3. Chuck Jensen, Blair, Nebr., 49 (Indian Pete); 4. Leonard Kucera, Lincoln, 48 (Miss Keeler).

Cowboys' Cowboy

While Oklahoma State's Cowboys are trying to win the College World Series in Omaha, an ex-Cowboy who is still a cowboy is trying to win a calf roping and steer wrestling title in the NEBRASKAland Days Rodeo at Lincoln's Pershing Auditorium.

Calf roper and steer wrestler Don Feddersen is a grad-uate of Oklahoma State (when it was called Oklahoma A&M) and when they were called Aggies instead of Cowboys.

And as an alumnus, the 36-year-old cowboy who spent five years of his life in Sidney, Neb., is keeping track of the Cowboys' (baseball type) progress in Omaha.

But at the same time, Feddersen also is eyeing the calves and steers that will come out of the chutes at Pershing Auditorium this weekend.

Rodeo Recruiting, Too

A school has never been put on probation for recruiting of rodeo performers, but Feddersen notes that cowboys are chased by some colleges just as football players are by most colleges.

"When I graduated from high school in El Reno, Okla., I had scholarship offers from schools to compete in rodeos," he recalled Thursday while looking out over the dirt floor at Pershing Auditorium.

"Sul Ross State and Hardin-Simmons along with a few other schools were giving scholarships and recruiting for cowboys just like football players at that time," he continued. "And I assume they are still doing it."

Changed Problems

Feddersen went from wrestling with society's problems as a case worker at $230 per month after graduating from Oklahoma A & M in 1954 to wrestling with steers, a move that netted him $14,000 in 1959.

The Cowboys' cowboy has seen rodeos grow to the point where cowboys were competing for more than three million dollars in prize money each of the past three years.

And Feddersen expects to see the Lincoln Jaycees-sponsored NEBRASKAland Rodeo take its place among the top rodeos in the nation.

Credit To Jaycees

"There's no reason this rodeo couldn't rank in the top four or five," he points out, giving credit to the Jaycees and the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce.

"They have brought in good cowboys and good stock for this year's rodeo," he continues. "And they have done a great job of getting the auditorium ready.

"This is an outstanding place for a rodeo," he noted spreading his arms to indicate he was talking of Pershing Auditorium. "There are no posts to obstruct view and every seat here gives an excellent view of the action."

No Drawbacks Indoors

Feddersen sees no drawbacks to holding a rodeo indoors such as at Pershing.

"In fact, there are a lot of advantages," he points out. A rodeo is better indoors. We perform indoors in such places as San Francisco, Oklahoma City, Houston and at Omaha."

The only problem to an indoor rodeo is with the stock, Hoss Inman, who provides the animals for a number of rodeos, notes and this is only a temporary problem.

"Most animals have to be bucked a couple of times indoors," Inman explains. "But after they get used to the indoors, there is no problem."

The cowboys are happy with the Pershing facility and the horses have no vote. And it's air-conditioned for the fans.

Mengert Leads In U.S. Open

San Francisco (AP) — Al Mengert, a hulking 200-pound outsider from the Pacific Northwest, uncorked a dazzling streak of 3s Thursday for a three-under-par 67 that sent him into the first round lead of the 66th National Open Golf Championship.

Knocking in six 3s in the space of eight holes and not getting a bogey, the 37-year-old pro from Tacoma, Wash., who has never won a major event, grabbed a one-stroke lead over former titleholder Gene Littler and young Don Massengale, tied at 68.

The 35-year-old Littler, 1961 Open champion, and the 29-year-old Massengale played cautious, defensive golf over the 6,719-yard, par 70 Olympic Country Club layout for two-under-par scores that stood for two hours before Mengert made his charge.

The sentimental favorite of the gallery of 14,759, the 53-year-old Ben Hogan, played the course with grim determination and characteristic steadiness, shooting 72.

"Putting was the best part of my game," said Ben, who was deprived of a fifth National Open here 11 years ago when he was beaten in a playoff by the obscure Jack Fleck. Fleck shot a 79 Thursday.

Two local heroes also failed to make a serious bid in the opening round, started in dense fog and finished in bright sunshine.

Ken Venturi, the 1964 Open winner who shortly afterward was hit with a circulatory ailment, used two sets of hand warmers in touring the course in 73. Tony Lema, 1964 British Open King, was among those tied at 71, as was PGA Champion Dave Marr.

Behind Mengert, Littler and Massengale came one of the advance tournament choices, Bill Casper of Peacock Gap, Calif., rated one of the game's finest putters, who shot 34-35—69.

Tied at 70 were Doug Sanders, the leading money winner; chunky Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., winner of the Buick Open last week; Australian Kel Nagle, beaten by play-off for this title a year ago, and a 19-year-old San Francisco collegian, John Miller, who registered first as a caddy and then qualified. Miller is an amateur.

In the 71 group with Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Tony Lema and Dave Marr were Bob Goalby, Tom Nieporte, and Wes Ellis Jr. Hogan at 72 was bracketed with a bunch of obscure dark-horses, including Stan Thirsk of Shawnee Mission, Kans.; Dave Hill of Evergreen, Colo.; Jim Petersen of Hillsboro, Ore.; Ed Moehling of Golf, Ill., and another amateur, Charles Harrison of Atlanta.

Mengert, father of four, turned pro shortly after being runner-up to Congressman Jack Westland in the 1952 National Amateur at Seattle.

He had a series of teaching jobs, starting as a partner of Dave Marr and Mike Souchak at Winged Foot in Mamarneck, N.Y., and continuing with positions in New Jersey, St. Louis, Sacramento, Calif., and Phoenix. His present post is with the Tacoma Country and Golf Club in Tacoma, Wash.

He had success as an amateur, twice winning the National Jaycee crown, and has won state and sectional events as a pro but he's never won an official PGA tournament. His best previous showing in the Open was 13th at Baltusrol in 1954.

"I qualified both locally and sectionally for this tournament with scores of 137," he said. "I came here feeling I could do well."

Mengert had eight straight pars before he got his first birdie at the 429-yard ninth. He boomed his best drive down the narrow fairway but sent his pitch 25 feet past the cup. He sank.

COWBOYS WIN, 6-1

Southern Cal Avenges Loss To Buckeyes, 5-1

. . . COLLEGE WORLD SERIES

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Omaha — A scrappy Oklahoma State team battled to its third straight win in the College World Series here with a 6-1 victory over St. Johns's here Thursday night.

Southern California threw the championship race into a three-game affair when the top-ranked Trojans broke a 19-game Ohio State winning streak with a 5-1 victory in the second game Thursday night.

The USC win avenged an earlier 6-2 loss to the Buckeyes in the series and left Southern Cal, Ohio State and Oklahoma State all with one loss in the double-elimination tournament.

In a special draw following Thursday night's games, Oklahoma State drew the bye into Saturday night. Ohio State and Southern Cal will meet at 8 Friday night with the winner facing Oklahoma State at 8 p.m. Saturday for the championship.

The Cowboys are attempting to become only the fourth team in the 20 years of the series to win the championship after losing the opening game. Oklahoma State lost to Ohio State, 4-2, Monday night, but has since defeated North Carolina, Texas and St. John's.

The only other teams to win the title after an opening loss were Texas in 1950, Southern California in 1958 and again in 1963.

The Thursday night loss was the second straight for St. John's after two opening victories and eliminated them from the tournament.

A bases-loaded triple by sophomore third baseman Bob Toney sparked the Oklahoma State victory. St. John's had tied the score at 1-1 in the sixth inning Richie Freund scored on sacrifice fly by Dave Zimms. Oklahoma State came back in the bottom of the seventh with four runs to take the lead and insure the victory. Toney's bases-loaded triple to right field came after Frank Warrington and Tony Sellari had walked and Alan Johnson had singled. Toney then scored on a sacrifice fly to centerfield by Wayne Weatherly.

Reliever Warrington gained credit for the win, his second against no losses. He relieved starter Larry Burchart with the bases loaded and only one out in the sixth inning.

St. John's had loaded the bases on consecutive singles by Freund, Frank Madden and George Blednick off Burchart. Warrington came in and got Zimms to fly to centerfield with Freund scoring after the catch.

The Oklahoma State left-hander then got out of the jam by forcing pinch hitter Ralph Addonizio to ground out.

Oklahoma State scored its first run in the opening inning on a single by Selari and three straight walks. The final run scored with Ron McCord tripling and coming home on a fielder's choice.

Southern Cal pitching ace John Stewart won his 16th game without a loss this season as Ohio State errors gave the Trojans four unearned runs.

Stewart needed relief help after Ohio State put runners on first and second with one out in the eighth inning and the Trojans leading, 2-1.

Bill Lee came in to put out the rally and preserve the win.

What proved to be the winning run scored in the seventh inning when USC catcher Steve Sogge was safe on an error by Ohio State third baseman Jim Graham and was driven home by Fred Shuey's triple off the centerfield fence, 420-feet from home plate.

The Trojans wrapped up the victory with three runs in the ninth on two walks, two errors by Buckeye second baseman Rickey Copp and a single by Pat Harrison that drove in two of the runs.

The only Ohio State run was unearned in the fourth inning and scored when Russ Nagelson crossed the plate as USC first baseman Buddy Gordon dropped a throw at first base on an attempted double play.

Clowns' Antics Spice Nebraskaland Rodeo

By KENT SAVERY
Star Sports Writer

"What a heckuva way to make a living."

That's what rodeo clown Pistol Holliday of Alden, Kan., hollered at an enthusiastic rodeo crowd as he was butted around the arena inside a barrel by Speedy Gonzalez, one of the orneriest bulls on the rodeo circuit.

The scene was the first of four performances of the Nebraskaland Championship Rodeo at Pershing Auditorium Thursday night.

The barrel performance was the conclusion of the day's action and a thrilling one at that.

The appearance of Speedy Gonzalez is always a rodeo highlight since the bull, owned by rodeo producer Hoss Inman of Lamar, Colo., is too tempermental to be ridden. The task of entertaining the audience with this bull is thus left to the clowns.

The respect the cowboys have for Speedy Gonzalez is quickly evidenced by the rapid clearing of the arena as Gonzalez enters.

Working with partner Tom LeGrand, of Ponca City, Okla., Holliday, says of their antics with the bull, "You've got to think quick. If anything happens it's all over."

Holliday continues, "Gonzalez is mean—meaner than any Brahma bull—and he's quick. He can hurt you, and he will if he can."

But the main task of Holliday and LeGrand, like any other rodeo clowns is to protect Brahma bull riders after they are thrown. The clowns must lure the bull away from the thrown rider and help him to safety.

It's a dangerous job as both admit. "But people like to see excitement," Holliday explains. "We don't cry if we get hurt."

The rodeo continues with 8 p.m. performances tonight and Saturday and the final program at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Harder, Corbin Lead Swingfest

. . . FORMER CHAMPS IN FIELD

By DON FORSYTHE

Championship duos from the last three tournaments are in the 71-team field opening the 13th annual Lincoln Country Club Swingfest today.

Back to defend their 1965 title are Bill Mowbray of Lincoln and Max Griffith of Kansas City, Mo. Others eyeing repeat titles are the 1964 champs, John Hoppe of Lincoln and Jack Fate of Kansas City, Mo., and the 1963 kings Bill Murrell of Lincoln and Dick Herman of Omaha.

But if play in Thursday's scotch foursome event is any indication there could be a new team at the top when firing in the 36-hole tourney ends Saturday afternoon.

Bill Harder of Lincoln and guest Maj. Gen. Tom Corbin of Bolling AFB, Washington, D.C., prevailed in Thursday's competition with a low net of 63, just a half-stroke better than the score posted by Don Pegler, Jr., of Lincoln and guest Gordon Jenkins of Fremont.

Harder and Corbin had a gross 76 and a 13-stroke handicap. The 74 gross total by Pegler and Jenkins put them second in that department, too.

Taking honors there were Matt Taber of Lincoln and Mike McCuistion of Lackland AFB, Tex., with a 69. They had to settle for seventh place in the handicap standings at 65, however.

Last year's scotch foursome champs, Bill Kimball of Lincoln and Harry Galloway of Bloomington, Ill., were early leaders Thursday, but their 64 didn't stand up.

Action this morning begins at 8:15, with a second flight scheduled to tee off at 1 p.m.

The record in the best-ball, handicap tourney was established in the inaugural 1954 tourney by Lee Chapin of Lincoln and Rod Smith of South Sioux City.

Since that time no winning team has been under the 120 mark.

Greene, Smith Equal NCAA Century Mark

. . . WORLD 220 RECORD TIED

Bloomington, Ind. (AP)—Gerry Lindgren, Washington State's bounding bantam, won the day's only final with an easy 6-mile triumph, but phenomenal Tommie Smith of San Jose State gave a real blastoff to the 45th NCAA Track and Field meet Thursday.

Smith matched the world 220 mark around one turn with a wind-assisted :20.2 clocking and, with defending champion Charlie Greene of Nebraska, officially tied the NCAA 100-yard record of :09.3 in preliminaries of the three-day collegiate showdown.

As expected, world champion Randy Matson of Texas A&M shattered the NCAA shotput record with a 65-6¼ toss on one of his two qualifying tries.

Lindgren, who shares the 6-mile world record of 27:11.6 with Billy Mills, failed in a try at the NCAA meet mark with a 28:07 victory over Indiana University's new asphalt track. The meet record is 27:59.2 set last year by Montana's Doug Brown.

Smith also placed third in the broad jump qualifying with a leap of 24-4½ to install San Jose State as a menace to favored UCLA's bid for the NCAA team crown shared by Southern California and Oregon.

Smith and Greene should have a hot duel in Friday's semifinals and finals of the 100 dash, but the San Jose speedster won't have another go at his own pending world 220 mark at :20 flat until Saturday's closing program.

Smith's smooth 220 heat victory matched the world 220 mark of :20.2 set by Arizona State's Henry Carr in 1964 but since bettered with a :20 flat clocking by Smith last Saturday at Sacramento.

In Thursday's initial session, preliminaries were held in 15 events and before the day's action was settled, it was evident the flock of defending individual champions were in for a rough time before the meet closes Saturday.

Matson's record-breaking shotput qualifying toss was well ahead of the 63-9¼ best by defending champion Neal Steinhauer of Oregon.

The shotput finals are Friday when Matson also will start a quest for the NCAA discus mark, one of the oldest in the book, with qualifying for Saturday's final in that event.

The discus record is 190-½ set by Southern California's Sim Innes in 1953.

In all, eight defending champions were in action Thursday and a few wound up back in qualifying heats.

However, javelin champion John Tushaus of Arizona qualified easily with 243-10½, well behind his pending American record of 284-0.

Trials were dropped Thursday for three events — the hammer throw, pole vault and 3-mile.

Six finals are scheduled Friday—the hammer, broad jump, shotput, 3,000-meter steeplechase, 100 dash and the 120 high hurdles.

Lindgren apologized for his failure to produce a record-breaking effort in the 6-mile.

"I have a cold and some pain in my chest, but actually coughing didn't bother me during the race," said the 126-pound Washington State sophomore, who was making his first 6-mile start of the year.

Several rivals in the 19-man field tried to serve a fast pace for Lindgren, but as he explained: "The park wouldn't let me go earlier and I tried to step out after 4 miles, but couldn't really break away."

Lindgren finished some 50 yards and 13.1 seconds ahead of New Zealander Geoff Pyne of UCLA, clocked in 28:20.2.

Lindgren also runs in the 3-mile event Saturday.

Two of the four 100 heats were not affected by the wind, and these were the two won in :09.3 each by Greene and Smith, who seemed to be breezing in his heat.

UCLA started its title bid with consistent placings in the qualifying, although the champion, Paul Kerry, was second in his heat.

Claridge Given Early QB Nod

. . . ROOKIES CHALLENGING

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Dennis Claridge, rarely used by the Green Bay Packers in two seasons, will be the starting quarterback for the Atlanta Falcons when they open the exhibition football season.

However, the big Nebraska graduate will have to turn back the challenges of a couple of determined rookies to keep the job when the Falcons start the regular season in the National Football League.

Randy Johnson of Texas A&I and Steve Sloan of Alabama were impressive during three days of workouts this week, Coach Norb Hecker said Wednesday.

Both will miss early drills with the Falcons, however, because of commitments to All-Star games, and aren't expected be ready when the Falcons open the exhibition season Aug. 1.

"We'll only have Johnson four days until after our second exhibition game, and Sloan will miss a lot of our early workouts, too," Hecker said. "Claridge will be our quarterback when we start out."

Claridge, who threw one pass and was thrown for losses in his two running attempts for the Packers last fall, said he was elated at joining the Falcons. "This is a great opportunity for me," Claridge said. "I want to play, and I will with the Falcons."

Claridge, a strong running quarterback when he was at Nebraska, weighs 220 pounds but plans to trim down to 210.

Johnson, a standout quarterback in the Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games, said he had put on 10 pounds by lifting weights but has since dropped back to 194 "because Coach Hecker thought I would have better speed, and didn't need the weight."

He will play in the coaches All-America game in Atlanta July 9 and the college All-Star game in Chicago Aug. 5.

"Missing early practices probably will hurt me a little, but I don't mind," Johnson said. "I'm glad to play in the games."

Sloan will play in the Atlanta game, but was not chosen for the Chicago affair.

The three workouts, Hecker added, were beneficial because Falcon coaches were able to study the abilities of the college and professional players acquired for the new NFL team.

BIG DAY AT PLATE IN MAJORS

By Associated Press

Atlanta, Detroit and Philadelphia had their hitting clothes on, collecting 61 safeties among them while recording victories in Thursday's major league baseball action.

The Braves cracked out 22 hits, including a pair of homers by pitcher Tony Cloninger, in walloping the New York Mets, 17-1. Atlanta's run and hit totals were the highest in the majors this season.

The Tigers had 20 hits while trouncing Boston 16-4 and Philadelphia delivered 19 safeties to defeat Cincinnati, 12-5.

There were some sparkling pitching efforts, too. Pete Richert and Ron Kline combined for a one-hitter as Washington edged Baltimore 2-1. Juan Marichal became the first 12-game winner in the majors by stopping Houston on four hits in a 2-1 triumph for San Francisco, and George Brunet scattered eight hits in pitching California to a 7-2 triumph over Minnesota.

In other games, the New York Yankees beat Cleveland, 7-6, Pittsburgh shaded St. Louis, 2-1, and the Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City, 6-4 and 5-2.

Mack Jones drove in five runs for the Braves with two singles and a homer. The only run off Cloninger was a fifth inning homer by Mets' pinch hitter Billy Murphy.

Willie Horton, Al Kaline and Jim Northrup paced Detroit's attack. Horton drove in six runs, including three with a homer, while the other two players had four hits apiece.

Cookie Rojas had five singles among Philadelphia's 19 hits. Richie Allen slammed a three-run homer for the Phils. Sam Ellis was the Reds' losing pitcher, his 11th defeat.

Frank Howard singled home both Washington runs in the third. Brooks Robinson collected Baltimore's only safety in the second.

Norm Siebern led off the seventh inning with a tie-breaking homer and Frank Malzone hit a three-run homer in the ninth for the Angels.

Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer for the Yanks, who drove Sam McDowell from the mound in a five-run fifth inning. Pinch hitter Chuck Hinton had a three-run homer for the Indians in the ninth.

Syndicate Buys Ford's Kauai King

Baltimore (AP)—A $2,520,000 syndicate, largest in the history of American racing, was formed Thursday to puchase Kauai King, the 1966 winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Mike Ford, owner of the 3-year-old Maryland-bred horse, said Kauai King will continue racing for the remainder of the 1966 season and next year.

Ford said the horse will stand at Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm, where he was born and bred.

Jerold C. Hoffberger, chairman of the board of the Baltimore Orioles, will be chairman of the three-man syndicate committee. The other members are Vanderbilt and Ford.

The syndicate is based on 36 shares at $70,000 apiece. Prior to the Kauai King syndication, the highest priced syndicate in American racing was the one formed recently on behalf of the injured 3-year-old Graustark. This was a $2,400,000 syndication with 40 shares offered at $60,000 a share.

Churchich 2nd-Team All-Star

Omaha—Nebraska two-sport star Bob Churchich was named Thursday to a second-team baseball All-American berth by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches in conjunction with the Wheaties Sport Federation.

Churchich, an All-Big-Eight quarterback choice a year ago, led the Big Eight in hitting this season as a third baseman and also saw some mound duty.

Churchich, a junior, is expected to be the starting quarterback next fall for the NU football team.

$1585 P.O.E.

That's the price of a new Volkswagen.

Some people won't buy one because they feel they deserve something costlier. That's the price we pay for the price we charge.

And some people are afraid to buy one because they don't see how we can turn out a cheap car without having it turn out cheap.

This is how:

Since the factory doesn't change the bug's shape every year, we don't have to change the factory every year.

What we don't spend on looks, we spend on improvements to make more people buy the car.

Mass production cuts costs. And VWs have been produced in a greater mass (over 10 million to date) than any car model in history.

Our air-cooled rear engine cuts costs, too, by eliminating the need for a radiator, water pump, and drive shaft.

There are no fancy gadgets, run by push buttons. (The only push buttons are on the doors. And those gadgets are run by you.)

When you buy a VW, you get what you pay for.

. . . WORLD 220 RECORD TIED

Bloomington, Ind. (AP)—Gerry Lindgren, Washington State's bounding bantam, won the day's only final with an easy 6-mile triumph, but phenomenal Tommie Smith of San Jose State gave a real blastoff to the 45th NCAA Track and Field meet Thursday.

Smith matched the world 220 mark around one turn with a wind-assisted :20.2 clocking and, with defending champion Charlie Greene of Nebraska, officially tied the NCAA 100-yard record of :09.3 in preliminaries of the three-day collegiate showdown.

As expected, world champion Randy Matson of Texas A&M shattered the NCAA shotput record with a 65-6¼ toss on one of his two qualifying tries.

Lindgren, who shares the 6-mile world record of 27:11.6 with Billy Mills, failed in a try at the NCAA meet mark with a 28:07 victory over Indiana University's new asphalt track. The meet record is 27:59.2 set last year by Montana's Doug Brown.

Smith also placed third in the broad jump qualifying with a leap of 24-4½ to install San Jose State as a menace to favored UCLA's bid for the NCAA team crown shared by Southern California and Oregon.

Smith and Greene should have a hot duel in Friday's semifinals and finals of the 100 dash, but the San Jose speedster won't have another go at his own pending world 220 mark at :20 flat until Saturday's closing program.

Smith's smooth 220 heat victory matched the world 220 mark of :20.2 set by Arizona State's Henry Carr in 1964 but since bettered with a :20 flat clocking by Smith last Saturday at Sacramento.

In Thursday's initial session, preliminaries were held in 15 events and before the day's action was settled, it was evident the flock of defending individual champions were in for a rough time before the meet closes Saturday.

Matson's record-breaking shotput qualifying toss was well ahead of the 63-9¼ best by defending champion Neal Steinhauer of Oregon.

The shotput finals are Friday when Matson also will start a quest for the NCAA discus mark, one of the oldest in the book, with qualifying for Saturday's final in that event.

The discus record is 190-½ set by Southern California's Sim Innes in 1953.

In all, eight defending champions were in action Thursday and a few wound up back in qualifying heats.

However, javelin champion John Tushaus of Arizona qualified easily with 243-10½, well behind his pending American record of 284-0.

Trials were dropped Thursday for three events — the hammer throw, pole vault and 3-mile.

Six finals are scheduled Friday—the hammer, broad jump, shotput, 3,000-meter steeplechase, 100 dash and the 120 high hurdles.

Lindgren apologized for his failure to produce a record-breaking effort in the 6-mile.

"I have a cold and some pain in my chest, but actually coughing didn't bother me during the race," said the 126-pound Washington State sophomore, who was making his first 6-mile start of the year.

Several rivals in the 19-man field tried to serve a fast pace for Lindgren, but as he explained: "The pack wouldn't let me go earlier and I tried to step out after 4 miles, but couldn't really break away."

Lindgren finished some 50 yards and 13.1 seconds ahead of New Zealander Geoff Pyne of UCLA, clocked in 28:20.2.

Lindgren also runs in the 3-mile event Saturday.

Two of the four 100 heats were not affected by the wind, and these were the two won in :09.3 each by Greene and Smith, who seemed to be breezing in his heat.

UCLA started its title bid with consistent placings in the qualifying, although the champion, Paul Kerry, was second in his heat.

Claridge Given Early QB Nod

. . . ROOKIES CHALLENGING

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Dennis Claridge, rarely used by the Green Bay Packers in two seasons, will be the starting quarterback for the Atlanta Falcons when they open the exhibition football season.

However, the big Nebraska graduate will have to turn back the challenges of a couple of determined rookies to keep the job when the Falcons start the regular season in the National Football League.

Randy Johnson of Texas A&I and Steve Sloan of Alabama were impressive during three days of workouts this week, Coach Norb Hecker said Wednesday.

Both will miss early drills with the Falcons, however, because of commitments to All-Star games, and aren't expected be ready when the Falcons open the exhibition season Aug. 1.

"We'll only have Johnson four days until after our second exhibition game, and Sloan will miss a lot of our early workouts, too," Hecker said. "Claridge will be our quarterback when we start out."

Claridge, who threw one pass and was thrown for losses in his two running attempts for the Packers last fall, said he was elated at joining the Falcons. "This is a great opportunity for me," Claridge said. "I want to play, and I will with the Falcons."

Claridge, a strong running quarterback when he was at Nebraska, weighs 220 pounds but plans to trim down to 210.

Johnson, a standout quarterback in the Blue-Gray and Senior Bowl games, said he had put on 10 pounds by lifting weights but has since dropped back to 194 "because Coach Hecker thought I would have better speed, and didn't need the weight."

He will play in the coaches All-America game in Atlanta July 9 and the college All-Star game in Chicago Aug. 5.

"Missing early practices probably will hurt me a little, but I don't mind," Johnson said. "I'm glad to play in the games."

Sloan will play in the Atlanta game, but was not chosen for the Chicago affair.

The three workouts, Hecker added, were beneficial because Falcon coaches were able to study the abilities of the college and professional players acquired for the new NFL team.

BIG DAY AT PLATE IN MAJORS

By Associated Press

Atlanta, Detroit and Philadelphia had their hitting clothes on, collecting 61 safeties among them while recording victories in Thursday's major league baseball action.

The Braves cracked out 22 hits, including a pair of homers by pitcher Tony Cloninger, in walloping the New York Mets, 17-1. Atlanta's run and hit totals were the highest in the majors this season.

The Tigers had 20 hits while trouncing Boston 16-4 and Philadelphia delivered 19 safeties to defeat Cincinnati, 12-5.

There were some sparkling pitching efforts, too. Pete Richert and Ron Kline combined for a one-hitter as Washington edged Baltimore ,2-1. Juan Marichal became the first 12-game winner in the majors by stopping Houston on four hits in a 2-1 triumph for San Francisco, and George Brunet scattered eight hits in pitching California to a 7-2 triumph over Minnesota.

In other games, the New York Yankees beat Cleveland, 7-6, Pittsburgh shaded St. Louis, 2-1, and the Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from Kansas City, 6-4 and 5-2.

Mack Jones drove in five runs for the Braves with two singles and a homer. The only run off Cloninger was a fifth inning homer by Mets' pinch hitter Billy Murphy.

Willie Horton, Al Kaline and Jim Northrup paced Detroit's attack. Horton drove in six runs, including three with a homer, while the other two players had four hits apiece.

Cookie Rojas had five singles among Philadelphia's 19 hits. Richie Allen slammed a three-run homer for the Phils. Sam Ellis was the Reds' losing pitcher, his 11th defeat.

Frank Howard singled home both Washington runs in the third. Brooks Robinson collected Baltimore's only safety in the second.

Norm Siebern led off the seventh inning with a tie-breaking homer and Frank Malzone hit a three-run homer in the ninth for the Angels.

Mickey Mantle hit a two-run homer for the Yanks, who drove Sam McDowell from the mound in a five-run fifth inning. Pinch hitter Chuck Hinton had a three-run homer for the Indians in the ninth.

Bob Astleford's Amateur Status Gets USGA OK

Omaha (AP)—State amateur golf champion Bob Astelford of Omaha has been cleared by the U.S. Golf Association in connection with charges involving his amateur standing.

Joseph C. Dey Jr., USGA executive director, notified Astelford.

The USGA had been investigating Astleford's amateur status for more than a year. Probed were his connection with the Field Club, of which he has been both a paid and honorary member, and allegations he took part in Calcutta Pools auction of golfers in a tournament.

Syndicate Buys Ford's Kauai King

Baltimore (AP)—A $2,520,000 syndicate, largest in the history of American racing, was formed Thursday to puchase Kaual King, the 1966 winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

Mike Ford, owner of the 3-year-old Maryland-bred horse, said Kaual King will continue racing for the remainder of the 1966 season and next year.

Ford said the horse will stand at Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm, where he was born and bred.

Jerold C. Hoffberger, chairman of the board of the Baltimore Orioles, will be chairman of the three-man syndicate committee. The other members are Vanderbilt and Ford.

The syndicate is based on 36 shares at $70,000 apiece. Prior to the Kauai King syndication, the highest priced syndicate in American racing was the one formed recently on behalf of the injured 3-year-old Graustark. This was a $2,400,000 syndication with 40 shares offered at $60,000 a share.

Don't let the low price scare you off.

$1585 P.O.E.

That's the price of a new Volkswagen.

Some people won't buy one because they feel they deserve something costlier. That's the price we pay for the price we charge.

And some people are afraid to buy one because they don't see how we can turn out a cheap car without having it turn out cheap.

This is how:

Since the factory doesn't change the bug's shape every year, we don't have to change the factory every year.

What we don't spend on looks, we spend on improvements to make more people buy the car.

Mass production cuts costs. And VWs have been produced in a greater mass (over 10 million to date) than any car model in history.

Our air-cooled rear engine cuts costs, too, by eliminating the need for a radiator, water pump, and drive shaft.

There are no fancy gadgets, run by push buttons. (The only push buttons are on the doors. And those gadgets are run by you.)

When you buy a VW, you get what you pay for.

What you don't get is frills. And you don't pay for what you don't get.

Mrs. Johnson Praises Morrison's Leadership

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Thursday heaped praise on Gov. Frank Morrison for "strong leadership" in the fields of conservation and beautification, then departed Nebraska after a 24-hour stay.

The First Lady told newsmen on the steps of the governor's mansion that she had enjoyed "a superb steak" Wednesday evening and "a delightful rest" as the overnight guest of Governor and Mrs. Morrison.

What will you tell the President about your Nebraska trip? she was asked.

"I will tell him I saw a beautiful state and strong leadership very much committed to my ideals of conservation and beautification.

"We have been watching your governor for some time." Mrs. Johnson pointed out, noting that Morrison had recently traveled to her native Texas to address a statewide environmental conference.

The First Lady said she "couldn't possibly have learned more about your wonderful state" than she was able to learn in a crowded 10-hour schedule which took her Wednesday to Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, Boys Town and Lincoln.

And, with that, Mrs. Johnson thanked Mrs. Morrison, "my wonderful hostess," and rode with the governor in a short motorcade to the Duncan Beechcraft hangar at the Lincoln airport.

Mrs. Johnson's twin-engine Beechcraft turbo-prop, a Johnson family plane, left for the LBJ ranch in Texas at 8:50 a.m.

The First Lady's morning began at about 7:15 a.m.

Breakfast, consisting of two boiled eggs, toast, orange juice and Sanka, was served to her on a tray in her bedroom shortly before 8 a.m.

Mrs. Johnson, hatless and dressed in a bright pink outfit, left the mansion at about 8:35 a.m. A small crowd of onlookers waved to her as she rode out of the mansion drive en route to the airport.

Wednesday night, after viewing the big Nebraskaland Days parade, the First Lady returned to the mansion for a dinner of Nebraska sirloin steak, fruit plate and Sanka prepared by Mrs. Morrison with the aid of her housekeeper, Marie Demuth, and assistant housekeeper Mrs. Otto Dowling.

The regular mansion cook, Mrs. Wilma Anderson, was on vacation.

Phoned LBJ, Luci

Mrs. Johnson spoke by telephone with the President and with daughter Luci before retiring for the night sometime before 10 p.m. She slept in the Green Room on the second floor of the mansion.

A number of Secret Service agents and State Safety Patrolmen also stayed overnight at the namsion.

The First Lady will remain in Texas for 10 days of relaxation before returning to Washington to begin final preparations for the August wedding of Luci.

Morrison told her on the mansion steps as she prepared to leave that "Maxine and I have been highly honored to have you with us for the night" and thanked her for the "emphasis and attention" which she had given to beautification efforts in Nebraska and nationwide.

Cushing Released

Boston (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, left St. Elizabeth's Hospital after 11 days of treatment for an undisclosed ailment.

Humboldt Hospital 2-Phase Building Program Approved

State Medical Facilities Director Verne Pangborne reported Thursday the federal government has approved a two-phase building program for the Humboldt Hospital.

Pangborne said $240,000 will be allocated to the hospital under the Hill-Burton program for construction of a 15-bed hospital and a 20-bed nursing home.

He said the hospital will match the money with $360,000 to complete the program's financing.

Final approval must come from the regional office of the U.S. Public Health Service, he said, before the money is released.

Pangborne said he will meet with hospital officials Friday for discussion of plans. He said bids on the project would probably be announced in mid-July.

Johnson Justifies Policy In Viet Nam

. . . TO DETER 'GANGSTERS'

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday American policy is designed to serve notice to the world that "gangsterism and aggression and force are not to be rewarded."

"We have what other people want If they develop the power and the strength to take it, don't you think they won't try," Johnson told the national conference of legislative leaders, which had adopted unanimously a resolution supporting his Viet Nam course.

Speaking to legislators from 37 states, Guam and Puerto Rico, the President departed from his prepared text to present his views in basic terms: that the line must be held in Viet Nam lest communism be encouraged to attempt further forcible expansion elsewhere.

And Johnson contended that the United States is not fighting in Viet Nam simply for the 14 million people of that country. Instead, he said:

"We are fighting for almost three billion people who also want freedom and liberty."

Johnson said the United States fights for the freedom and liberty of 100 nations "and we must continue to fight until men are convinced that is better to talk than fight."

Once again, he said:

"We are ready to talk anytime, anywhere, with any government. All they have to do to test us is name the place and the date. They will find us there. But you can't have a unilateral contract. The other side has to want to talk too."

Citing the lessons of World War II as demonstrating the need to stop aggression at the outset, Johnson said the U.S. message to would-be conquerers is that "when you attempt force to subjugate people, you will meet the United States of America."

William J. Porter, deputy ambassador to Saigon, reported to Johnson during the day on pacification programs aimed at bettering the lives of Vietnamese villagers deemed secure from Viet Cong attack.

Porter later told newsmen the United States hopes the proportion of the country's population in pacified villages will rise by 14 percentage points during the year to about 60%.

Despite setbacks due to political turmoil in northern provinces, Porter said, "the effort on the civilian side is really beginning to roll." And he said about 20,000 Vietnamese are leaving Viet Cong areas each month to live in sectors controlled by the Saigon government.

He said this was greatly hampering Viet Cong military operations.

Johnson said in a statement he found Porter's report of progress impressive, but added, "I will be the first to say that we and our Vietnamese allies still have a long way to go."

Sorensen Sees Meet As Step In Right Direction

Omaha (AP)—Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen, Democratic nominee for governor, returned from Washington Thursday night and said the White House Conference for Legislative Leaders he attended was one step toward a re-examination of the role of the states in the nation's development.

Sorensen said federal government leaders, including President Johnson, envisioned a working partnership between the government and the states, not a federal takeover or a dictator role.

Sorensen said, "Our state can take its proper place in a state-federal system, but only if we exercise fully the responsibilities of state government."

Terming the re-examination of the role of the states a sorely needed step, Sorenson said "for too many years everyone talked about states rights, but no one moved to exercise state responsibilities."

Burglars Hit Oil Company

Thieves broke into the Whitehead Oil Co. at 2537 Randolph late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning, making off with money and merchandise valued at $1,760, the Lincoln Police Department reported Thursday.

The burglars entered through a window in the southwest portion of the building and forced their way into the tire warehouse where the company's safe is located.

They knocked the dial off the safe, apparently in an attempt to punch the safe open, but, this failing, they peeled the door off the safe to get at its contents.

Iowans Not Too Interested In Saving Ak Span

Council Bluffs, Iowa (AP) — A majority of the Council Bluffs City Council indicated they are not interested in spending city money to preserve the Ak-Sar-Ben bridge between Omaha and Council Bluffs.

The Omaha City Council voted to consider a resolution to rescind a descision by a previous council to tear down the bridge.

"My reaction is that the Omaha council acted too late," said Councilman Winn Phillips. He said he "leaned toward saving the bridge" one year ago, but changed his mind because the Iowa Highway Commission is grading the Interstate Highway from Broadway south to Ninth Avenue.

"In order for us to have a connection to the bridge we would have to build an overpass, which would be a very expensive project." Phillips said.

Couple Believes Adopted Child Is Kidnaped Baby

Chicago (UPI) — The parents of a baby kidnaped from a hospital maternity ward two years ago have taken into their home and are adopting a child abandoned 14 months later in Newark, N.J. They were reported convinced the child is their long-missing son.

The Illinois department of children and family services said Thursday night it had neither been "absolutely established" nor "excluded" that the child found in a stroller near a Newark variety store was the missing Paul Joseph Fronczak.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation office in Chicago refused to either confirm or deny that the Fronczak child, taken from Mrs. Dora Fronczak's arms in Micheal Reese Hospital April 27, 1964, had been found in New Jersey. The baby was abducted the day after he was born.

Had Child A Week

An attorney for Mrs. Fronczak and her husband, Chester, said the couple have had the child "about a week."

The attorney said the Fronczaks had been "secreted" and would not appear "until we feel it's time for them to appear."

A neighbor, John Milakovic, said he saw a boy about 2 playing in the Fronczaks' back yard about 11 a.m. Thursday. But another neighbor, Mrs. Opal Volkman, who lives downstairs from the Fronczaks in the three-flat apartment house, said she knew nothing about it.

'Yes, It Is'

The Mrs. Fronczar said, "Yes, it is," when asked if the child was the abducted Paul Joseph. Fronczark also believes the child is his missing son, the Sun-Times said.

Newark police said a child about 15 months old was found sitting in a stroller, unattended for at least an hour, in front of McCorry's Variety Store.

The child, at the time he was found, was about 24 inches tall, had blond hair and brown eyes, and was dressed in a blue suit and cap. The child was taken to the children's ward of Newark Hospital.

Johnson Justifies Policy In Viet Nam

. . . TO DETER 'GANGSTERS'

Washington (AP) — President Johnson said Thursday American policy is designed to serve notice to the world that "gangsterism and aggression and force are not to be rewarded."

"We have what other people want. If they develop the power and the strength to take it, don't you think they won't try," Johnson told the national conference of legislative leaders, which had adopted unanimously a resolution supporting his Viet Nam course.

Speaking to legislators from 37 states, Guam and Puerto Rico, the President departed from his prepared text to present his views in basic terms: that the line must be held in Viet Nam lest communism be encouraged to attempt further forcible expansion elsewhere.

The Purchasing Division shall examine each requisition or estimate and shall have the authority to revise it as to quality, quantity, or estimate cost but revision as to quality shall be in accordance with the standards and specifications established pursuant to this ordinance.

A bid security record shall be kept and maintained in the Purchasing Division.
5. The Purchasing Agent may provide for the creation of a store, or stores, to be under his general direction, supervision and control. 7. Competitive bidding shall not be required when unique or non-competitive articles are being purchased or when professional services are being contracted for, as determined by the Purchasing Agent, pursuant to the provisions of Section 6, Article VII of the Charter of the City of Lincoln.
8. Advertisement for bids shall not be required for any purchase wherein the probable expenditure shall not exceed Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), but in such case the Purchasing Agent shall secure and record at least three informal bids, if practicable.
9. In all cases where bids are required and received, the contracts and purchase orders shall be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. If, however, the Purchasing Agent believes the interests of the City would be best served by accepting other than the lowest bid, the reason for accepting such higher bid shall be submitted in writing as a part of the award, and a copy thereof shall be presented to the Mayor. The Purchasing Agent may, if he shall find that the public interest will be best served thereby, and with the approval of the Mayor, reject any and all bids or parts of any bid or bids upon anyone or more articles embraced in any bid. All bids shall be sealed and delivered by the bidder to the Purchasing Agent and shall be opened by him at an hour and place which shall be stated in the advertisement for bids and in the presence of all bidders who attend. 12. In case of actual emergency, and with the consent of the Purchasing Agent, the head of any using agency may purchase directly any supplies whose immediate procurement is essential to prevent delays in the work of the using agency. The overturning moment produced from lateral forces shall in no case exceed two-thirds (2/3) of the dead-load resisting moment. Uplift due to overturning shall be adequately resisted by proper anchorage to the ground or to the structural frame of the building. The weight of earth superimposed over footings may be used in determining the dead-load resisting moment. Such earth shall be carefully placed and thoroughly compacted.

(b) WIND LOADS. Signs and sign structures shall be designed and constructed to resist wind forces as specified in the Lincoln Building Code.

(c) ALLOWABLE STRESSES. The design of wood concrete, or steel members shall conform to the requirements of Chapters 25, 26 and 27 of the Lincoln Building Code. Section 23. CONSTRUCTION. (a) GENERAL. The supports for all signs or sign structures shall be placed in or upon private property and shall be securely built, constructed, and erected in conformance with the requirements of this Code.

Nonstructural trim and display surfaces outside of Fire Zone No. 1 may be of wood, metal, approved plastics, or any combination thereof.

(e) ANCHORAGE. Members supporting unbraced signs shall be so proportioned that the bearing loads imposed on the soil in either direction, horizontal or vertical, shall not exceed the safe values. Braced ground signs shall be anchored to resist the specified wind load acting in any direction. Anchors and supports shall be designed for safe bearing loads on the soil and for an effective resistance to pull-out amounting to a force 25 per cent greater than the required resistance to overturning. Anchors and supports shall penetrate to a depth below ground greater than that of the frost line.

Signs attached to masonry, concrete, or steel shall be safely and securely fastened thereto by means of metal anchors, bolts, or approved expansion screws of sufficient size and anchorage to support safely the loads applied.

No wooden blocks or plugs or anchors with wood used in connection with screws or nails shall be considered proper anchorage, except in the case of signs attached to wood framing.

(f) DISPLAY SURFACES. Display surfaces in all types of signs may be made of metal, glass or approved plastics.

Sections of approved plastics on wall signs shall not exceed one hundred and fifty (150) square feet in area.

EXCEPTIONS: 1. In Fire Zone No. 3 the area may be increased by 50 per cent.

2. Sections of approved plastics on signs other than wall signs may be of unlimited area if approved by the Building Official.

Footing inspections may be required by the Building Official for all signs having footings.

All signs containing electrical wiring shall be subject to the provisions of the Electrical Code, Title 23 of the Lincoln Municipal Code, and the electrical components used shall bear the label of an approved testing agency.

The overturning moment produced from lateral forces shall in no case exceed two-thirds (2-3) of the dead-load resisting moment. Uplift due to overturning shall be adequately resisted by proper anchorage to the ground or to the structural frame of the building. The weight of earth superimposed over footings may be used in determining the dead-load resisting moment. Such earth shall be carefully placed and thoroughly compacted.

(b) WIND LOADS. Signs and sign structures shall be designed and constructed to resist wind forces as specified in the Lincoln Building Code.

(c) ALLOWABLE STRESSES. The design of wood concrete, or steel members shall conform to the requirements of Chapters 25, 26 and 27 of the Lincoln Building Code. Nonstructural trim and display surfaces outside of Fire Zone No. 1 may be of wood, metal, approved plastics, or any combination thereof.

(e) ANCHORAGE. Members supporting unbraced signs shall be so proportioned that the bearing loads imposed on the soil in either direction, horizontal or vertical, shall not exceed the safe values. Braced ground signs shall be anchored to resist the specified wind load acting in any direction. Anchors and supports shall be designed for safe bearing loads on the soil and for an effective resistance to pull-out amounting to a force 25 per cent greater than the required resistance to overturning. Anchors and supports shall penetrate to a depth below ground greater than that of the frost line.

Signs attached to masonry, concrete, or steel shall be safely and securely fastened thereto by means of metal anchors, bolts, or approved expansion screws of sufficient size and anchorage to support safely the loads applied.

No wooden blocks or plugs or anchors with wood used in connection with screws or nails shall be considered proper anchorage, except in the case of signs attached to wood framing.

(f) DISPLAY SURFACES. Display surfaces in all types of signs may be made of metal, glass or approved plastics.

Any sign which has become valueless for advertising purposes shall be removed by the owner or person in charge of the building to which such sign is attached, when ordered to do so by notice in writing from the Building Official. Mart Returns To Old Habit

New York (AP)—The stock market returned to its old habit of selling off on Thursdays and the list took a moderate loss.

Volume was down to 6.88 million shares from 8.53 million Wednesday.

Wall Street took profits on the series of five straight advances which ended Tuesday and ran into mixed prices Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 3.95 to 897.16. At its worst, the average was down 7.07 in late afternoon.

Analysts saw the performance chiefly as technical. In the news background was a report that industrial production was at a record level in May.

Of 1,368 issues traded, 618 fell and 511 rose. Highs for the year totaled 17 and lows 75.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.1 to 322.4 with industrials off 2.7, rails up .7 and utilities off 1.2 to a low for the year.

Airlines and an assortment of other glamor stocks were prominent among the gainers as the list began to improve from its lows of the day. The swingback was so strong that at the end of the session, 12 of the 15 most-active stocks had posted gains and 3 took losses.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mining issue, had another one of its spells of frantic activity and wound up as the most-active issue, up ⅛ at 3⅛ on 545,500 shares.

Analysts were at a loss to account for Benguet's activity on a news basis. Aside from Homestake, up ⅝, other gold were lower.

Among other actively traded issues, Eastern Air Lines rose 5, SCM 2⅛, Control Data 2, Burroughs 3½, TWA 2⅝ and Texas Gulf Sulphur 1¾.

Delta Airlines rose 3¼, Braniff 5¼, United Air Lines 1⅞, Boeing 4¼, IBM 3⅝ and U.S. Smelting 2¼.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

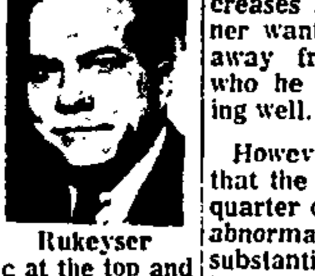
The Associated Press average of corporate bonds were mixed.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

GM Chairman Discusses Fluctuations In Car Sales

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

As a phase of the spring decline in stock prices from an all time peak, pessimistic talk about market leaders, especially the biggest money maker, General Motors Corporation, paralleled the corrective movement.



Rukeyser

Believing that the small investor is made a sucker when gossip is optimistic at the top and blue after stock prices have fallen out of bed, I called on Frederic G. Donner, chairman and chief executive officer of General Motors Corporation, at his New York headquarters and asked him to undertake to put short term fluctuations in automobile sales in broader perspective.

Having been a stellar growth stock, G.M., the industrial giant, was in the positoin of the personal benefactor who is asked: "What have you done for me lately?" G.M. common in 1966 dropped from a high of 108¼ to a low of 81. In 1932 this stock, when allowance is made for splits, sold down to $1.2708. The stock reached 113¾ in 1965.

Professing that guessing the stock market is out of his line, Donner, studying his long term charts of economic data, told me that in his judgment 1966 would be another big year for automobile sales, with the industry, despite intermediate fluctuations, still running around 10% above the projected long term trend line of growth.

As a business statesman, Donner undertook to speak objectively concerning his competitors. In fact, he pointed out that his confidence is heightened by the fact that the industry, including Ford and Chrysler as well as G.M., is offering cars which interest the public, and that the major companies and their dealers are in fine fettle for giving optium competition.

Scientific Selection

A wise man once remarked it isn't what you don't know that hurts, but what you know that isn't true. In statistical terms, comparisons are odious unless there is scientific selection of the base line. Without depriciating the excellence of his competitors, Donner from the charts gave his evaluation of why the assumption by some gossips that General Motors was losing its steam was erroneous.

For example, one observer, in accordance with the Wall Street tradition for rationalizing every tick of the stock ticker, pointed out that G.M. had slipped from its share of the total domestic market of 54.7% in 1962 to 52%. Donner remarked that these ratios under competition tend perpetually to zigzag and that as recently as 1955 to 1960 G.M. was getting only 45% of the market.

In answer to my question, the executive said that G.M. would continue to try to develop models that please the public and would seek as large sales as possible. He stated that when management fixes a ceiling on total percentage of industry sales and hold back, it can be sure it will achieve less than its target. Donner added that G.M. wouldn't have been able to satisfy the unprecedently large demand for cars since 1960 if management had not made the bold decision to expand capital facilities far in advance.

Market Gossip

Another theme of the market gossips is that G.M. not only showed a decline during the first three months of 1966 as compared with the 1965 first quarter in sales in dollars but also in earnings per share at a time when Ford and Chrysler showed increases for the quarter. Donner wanted to take no credit away from his competitors who he recognized were doing well.

However, he pointed out that the yardstick of the first quarter of 1965 was especially abnormal for G.M., which lost substantial sales that would have taken place in the final quarter of 1964 except for a work stoppage. Donner said that G.M. was most affected by the strike and then as a compensation the first quarter of 1965 after the labor settlement was abnormally big for General Motors because of the pent up demand.

Donner said that there would be less distortion if analysts looked at the performance of each of the Big Three for the first six months of the new model year starting on October 1, 1965 and continuing through March 31, 1966.

On the six months basis, instead of showing percentage drops while its competitors were showing percentage gains in the first quarter of 1966, G.M. for the six months exceeded its competitors in percentage gains in worldwide unit sales, in sales in dollars, and in earnings before taxes. However, Ford for the six months showed a bigger percentage gains in earnings after taxes.

Can Be Misleading

In the drama of intense competition, market commentators made much of the fact that for the first time Ford produced more units in the export field than G.M., although they had been running close for years. But, while this was literally the case, the bare fact may have been misleading.

While Ford in 1965 produced in foreign countries other than Canada a total of 1,184,000 cars and trucks while G.M. made overseas an aggregate of 1,163,000, foreign sales of vehicles were supplemented by shipment of units produced on this continent. Of the latter, G.M. exported 117,000 and Ford 82,000.

Thus, according to Donner's calculation, the total sale of cars and trucks from various sources by G.M. totaled 1,280,000 in 1965, against 1,266,000 for Ford. When the units produced and sold in Canada are included, the aggregate for G.M. in 1965 was 1,648,000 and for Ford 1,486,000. These figures are indicative of the competition under way.

(Editor's note: Rukeyser's interview with Donner will be concluded Monday.)

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries with stamped, self-addressed envelope concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Grain Market Rally Meets Resistance

Chicago (AP)—The broadest general advance in many weeks met strong resistance in the grain futures market Thursday and prices of all commodities finished well below the day's peaks although still holding substantial gains.

Wheat closed 4 cents or more above the previous close after having slipped from gains of about 8 cents at the extreme. Soybeans, up almost the 10-cent limit in spots at best, were under active profit cashing in late transactions and were only 2 to 4½ cents higher at the close.

Corn moved up almost 3 cents at most and held fairly well. Oats and rye added about a cent at most.

Brokers said the unusual strength was entirely unexpected.

Analysts credited the early support to speculators who, they said, seemed to have been impressed by reports that the winter wheat crop had been further delayed.

At the close, wheat was 4 to 4½ cents a bushel higher, July $1.79-79⅛; corn ⅝-2⅛ higher, July $1.27⅝-⅞; oats ⅛-⅝ higher, July 69¼ cents; rye unchanged to 1 cent higher, July $1.23¾-24; soybeans 2 to 4½ higher, July $3.31¼-32¾.

Mart Returns To Old Habit

New York (AP)—The stock market returned to its old habit of selling off on Thursdays and the list took a moderate loss.

Volume was down to 6.88 million shares from 8.53 million Wednesday.

Wall Street took profits on the series of five straight advances which ended Tuesday and ran into mixed prices Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average declined 3.95 to 897.16. At its worst, the average was down 7.07 in late afternoon.

Analysts saw the performance chiefly as technical. In the news background was a report that industrial production was at a record level in May.

Of 1,368 issues traded, 618 fell and 511 rose. Highs for the year totaled 17 and lows 75.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 1.1 to 322.4 with industrials off 2.7, rails up .7 and utilities off 1.2 to a low for the year.

Airlines and an assortment of other glamor stocks were prominent among the gainers as the list began to improve from its lows of the day. The swingback was so strong that at the end of the session, 12 of the 15 most-active stocks had posted gains and 3 took losses.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mining issue, had another one of its spells of frantic activity and wound up as the most-active issue, up ⅛ at 3⅛ on 545,500 shares.

Analysts were at a loss to account for Benguet's activity on a news basis. Aside from Homestake, up ⅜, other gold were lower.

Among other actively traded issues, Eastern Air Lines rose 5, SCM 2⅞, Control Data 2, Burroughs 3½, TWA 2⅝ and Texas Golf Sulphur 1¾.

Delta Airlines rose 3¼, Braniff 5¼, United Air Lines 1⅞, Boeing 4½, IBM 3⅝ and U.S. Smelting 2¼.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

The Associated Press average of corporate bonds were mixed.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

GM Chairman Discusses Fluctuations In Car Sales

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

As a phase of the spring decline in stock prices from an all time peak, pessimistic talk about market leaders, especially the biggest money maker, General Motors Corporation, paralleled the corrective movement.

Rukeyser

Believing that the small investor is made a sucker when gossip is optimistic at the top and blue after stock prices have fallen out of bed, I called on Frederic G. Donner, chairman and chief executive officer of General Motors Corporation, at his New York headquarters and asked him to undertake to put short term fluctuations in automobile sales in broader perspective.

Having been a stellar growth stock, G.M., the industrial giant, was in the positoin of the personal benefactor who is asked: "What have you done for me lately?" G.M. common in 1966 dropped from a high of 108¼ to a low of 81. In 1932 this stock, when allowance is made for splits, sold down to $1.2708. The stock reached 113¾ in 1965.

Professing that guessing the stock market is out of his line, Donner, studying his long term charts of economic data, told me that in his judgment 1966 would be another big year for automobile sales, with the industry, despite intermediate fluctuations, still running around 10% above the projected long term trend line of growth.

As a business statesman, Donner undertook to speak objectively concerning his competitors. In fact, he pointed out that his confidence is heightened by the fact that the industry, including Ford and Chrysler as well as G.M., is offering cars which interest the public, and that the major companies and their dealers are in fine fettle for giving optium competition.

Scientific Selection

A wise man once remarked it isn't what you don't know that hurts, but what you know that isn't true. In statistical terms, comparisons are odious unless there is scientific selection of the base line. Without depriciating the excellence of his competitors, Donner from the charts gave his evaluation of why the assumption by some gossips that General Motors was losing its steam was erroneous.

For example, one observer, in accordance with the Wall Street tradition for rationalizing every tick of the stock ticker, pointed out that G.M. had slipped from its share of the total domestic market of 54.7% in 1962 to 52%. Donner remarked that these ratios under competition tend perpetually to zig zag and that as recently as 1955 to 1960 G.M. was getting only 45% of the market.

In answer to my question, the executive said that G.M. would continue to try to develop models that please the public and would seek as large sales as possible. He stated that when management fixes a ceiling on total percentage of industry sales and hold back, it can be sure it will achieve less than its target. Donner added that G.M. wouldn't have been able to satisfy the unprecedently large demand for cars since 1960 if management had not made the bold decision to expand capital facilities far in advance.

Market Gossip

Another theme of the market gossips is that G.M. not only showed a decline during the first three months of 1966 as compared with the 1965 first quarter in sales in dollars but also in earnings per share at a time when Ford and Chrysler showed increases for the quarter. Donner wanted to take no credit away from his competitors who he recognized were doing well.

However, he pointed out that the yardstick of the first quarter of 1965 was especially abnormal for G.M., which lost substantial sales that would have taken place in the final quarter of 1964 except for a work stoppage. Donner said that G.M. was most affected by the strike and then as a compensation the first quarter of 1965 after the labor settlement was abnormally big for General Motors because of the pent up demand.

Donner said that there would be less distortion if analysts looked at the performance of each of the Big Three for the first six months of the new model year starting on October 1, 1965 and continuing through March 31, 1966.

On the six months basis, instead of showing percentage drops while its competitors were showing percentage gains in the first quarter of 1966, G.M. for the six months exceeded its competitors in percentage gains in worldwide unit sales, in sales in dollars, and in earnings before taxes. However, Ford for the six months showed a bigger percentage gains in earnings after taxes.

Can Be Misleading

In the drama of intense competition, market commentators made much of the fact that for the first time Ford produced more units in the export field than G.M., although they had been running close for years. But, while this was literally the case, the bare fact may have been misleading.

While Ford in 1965 produced in foreign countries other than Canada a total of 1,184,000 cars and trucks while G.M. made overseas an aggregate of 1,163,000, foreign sales of vehicles were supplemented by shipment of units produced on this continent. Of the latter, G.M. exported 117,000 and Ford 82,000.

Thus, according to Donner's calculation, the total sale of cars and trucks from various sources by G.M. totaled 1,280,000 in 1965, against 1,266,000 for Ford. When the units produced and sold in Canada are included, the aggregate for G.M. in 1965 was 1,648,000 and for Ford 1,486,000. These figures are indicative of the competition under way.

(Editor's note: Rukeyser's interview with Donner will be concluded Monday.)

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries with stamped, self-addressed envelope concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Grain Market Rally Meets Resistance

Chicago (AP)—The broadest general advance in many weeks met strong resistance in the grain futures market Thursday and prices of all commodities finished well below the day's peaks although still holding substantial gains.

Wheat closed 4 cents or more above the previous close after having slipped from gains of about 8 cents at the extreme. Soybeans, up almost the 10-cent limit in spots at best, were under active profit cashing in late transactions and were only 2 to 4½ cents higher at the close.

Corn moved up almost 3 cents at most and held fairly well. Oats and rye added about a cent at most.

Brokers said the unusual strength was entirely unexpected.

Analysts credited the early support to speculators who, they said, seemed to have been impressed by reports that the winter wheat crop had been further delayed.

At the close, wheat was 4 to 4¾ cents a bushel higher, July $1.79-79⅛; corn ⅞-2⅞ higher, July $1.27⅝-¾; oats ⅜-⅞ higher, July 69¾ cents; rye unchanged to 1 cent higher, July $1.23¾-24; soybeans 2 to 4½ higher, July $3.31¾-32¾.

Nebraska Guardsmen End Tour With Governor Parade

Camp Ripley, Minn. (AP) — National Guardsmen from Nebraska's 67th Mechanized Infantry Brigade forgot about their wheels and tracks Thursday and marched in the Governor's Day parade climaxing two weeks of summer training.

A total of 3,120 Nebraska boys and 792 from northwest Iowa took part.

One of nine elite Guard outfits picked by the Defense Department to be equipped and manned to full strength, the brigade's assignment in training was a test to meet the readiness challenge.

Gov. Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska told the troops "this is the last time I shall review you as your commander in chief at Camp Ripley, a pleasure I have had for six years as governor of Nebraska. You and your families and your employers have made many great sacrifices to support the accelerated SRF Select Reserve Force program."

Brig. Gen. William G. Bechman, brigade commander, commended the officers and men.

"Your performance was fine and I appreciate your efforts," he said.

The Iowa guardsmen, representing six northwest Iowa towns walked off with top honors although they had been a part of the brigade only since last November.

Iowa's Second Battalion of the 133rd Infantry won the Brigade Commander's Trophy for excellence in training. The unit commander is Maj. Donald A. Ferguson of Sioux City.

Nebraska's Second Battalion of the 134th Infantry won the Brigade Award for Proficiency in Maintenance during training. This battalion has units in Beatrice, Fairbury, Nebraska City, Auburn, Falls City, Seward and Hastings, commanded by Lt. Col. Francis L. DeBoer of York.

The best mess award went to Co. C of the First Battalion 134th Infantry, with members from Columbus. It has won the award seven out of eight years. The commander is Capt. Dell D. Miller of Columbus.

The Eisenhower Award, given for the outstanding guard unit in each state for the previous year, went to Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 67th Support Battalion, of Lincoln, Capt. Arthur M. Kolb.

The award for efficiency in maintenance in 1965 went to Headquarters and Headquarters Co., First Battalion, 134th Infantry, of Omaha, commanded by Capt. William F. Muff.

Three 25-year service awards were made. Recipients were Lt. Col. Burl M. Johnson of Lincoln, Maj. Harry C. Dahlgren of York and S. Sgt. Charles D. Castle of Shenandoah, Iowa.

The guardsmen get paid for summer training Friday and leave for home Saturday. Two far western Nebraska units depart Friday morning.

Burglary Case Hearing Friday

Madison (UPI)—A hearing will be held Friday morning in Madison County Court for Larry W. Blank, 22, Norfolk, who is charged with burglary in connection with the theft of over 115 items recently recovered by Madison County authorities.

Blank will be represented by a court-appointed attorney. He was being held under $2,500 bond.

Robert W. Streeter, also of Norfolk, last week was placed on two years probation and assessed court costs in connection with the same burglaries.

The items were recovered at the Streeter farm home southwest of Norfolk on a search warrant.

Bonn (UPI)—The government announced Thursday it was prohibiting low-level flying in close formation by pilots of F104G jet Starfighters, 59 of which have crashed since their introduction into the Luftwaffe in 1961.

A spokesman for Defense Minister Kai-Uwe von Hassel said the Lockheed-built fighters will stay above 1,000 feet when in close formation. Previously, pilots of the crash-plauged plane were allowed to fly at levels as low as 250 feet.

6 Bodies, Wreckage Recovered

Guadalupe, Calif. (UPI) — Six bodies and wreckage of a light plane were recovered from the ocean Thursday in what may have been an in flight collision of two light aircraft, officials said.

The six known dead were aboard a single engine Cherokee, but a Federal Aviation Agency said wing tanks recovered did not belong to the Cherokee, leading to speculation of an in flight collision.

The Cherokee took off from Montgomery Field in San Diego Thursday morning and was bound for the Shelter Cove land development near Fort Bragg, Calif.

All Employes

The six persons on board were all employes or prospective employes of the Shelter Cove Co., the Coast Guard said.

The crash occurred about three miles offshore from this beach community in central California, about 180 miles north of Los Angeles.

The bodies were bloated and burned, leading officials to believe at first that it was old wreckage.

Found By Alaska

The wreckage and the bodies were found by the fishing boat Alaska and were taken aboard the Coast Guard cutter Cape Porpoise.

The six victims were identified as Ronald L. Reynolds, 51, the pilot, Emanuel Berman, 56, Samuel Nachsin, 55, Albert H. Brueger, 50, all of San Deigo, Floyd McKalison, 64, Del Mar, Calif., and Leo R. De Mars, 49, Lemon Grove, Calif.

Coast Guard aircraft and cutters were searching the waters for additional wreckage.

Nebraska Guardsmen End Tour With Governor Parade

Camp Ripley, Minn. (AP) — National Guardsmen from Nebraska's 67th Mechanized Infantry Brigade forgot about their wheels and tracks Thursday and marched in the Governor's Day parade climaxing two weeks of summer training.

A total of 3,120 Nebraska boys and 792 from northwest Iowa took part.

One of nine elite Guard outfits picked by the Defense Department to be equipped and manned to full strength, the brigade's assignment in training was a test to meet the readiness challenge.

Gov. Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska told the troops "this is the last time I shall review you as your commander in chief at Camp Ripley, a pleasure I have had for six years as governor of Nebraska. You and your families and your employers have made many great sacrifices to support the accelerated SRF Select Reserve Force program."

6 Bodies, Wreckage Recovered

Guadalupe, Calif. (UPI) — Six bodies and wreckage of a light plane were recovered from the ocean Thursday in what may have been an in flight collision of two light aircraft, officials said.

The six known dead were aboard a single engine Cherokee, but a Federal Aviation Agency said wing tanks recovered did not belong to the Cherokee, leading to speculation of an in flight collision.

The Cherokee took off from Montgomery Field in San Diego Thursday morning and was bound for the Shelter Cove land development near Fort Bragg, Calif.

All Employes

The six persons on board were all employes or prospective employes of the Shelter Cove Co., the Coast Guard said.

The crash occurred about three miles offshore from this beach community in central California, about 180 miles north of Los Angeles.

The bodies were bloated and burned, leading officials to believe at first that it was old wreckage .

Found By Alaska

The wreckage and the bodies were found by the fishing boat Alaska and were taken aboard the Coast Guard cutter Cape Porpoise.

The six victims were identified as Ronald L. Reynolds, 51, the pilot, Emanuel Berman, 56, Samuel Nachsin, 55, Albert H. Brueger, 50, all of San Deigo, Floyd McKalison, 64, Del Mar, Calif., and Leo R. De Mars, 49, Lemon Grove, Calif.

Coast Guard aircraft and cutters were searching the waters for additional wreckage.

Civil Rightist Breaks Up Graduation

Boston (AP) — A civil rights leader broke up a junior high school graduation Thursday by rushing the stage where a school committee member, Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, was sitting.

The school population is dominantly Negro

He was the Rev. Virgil Wood, president of the Massachusetts unit of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

He grabbed a microphone away from the school principal, Francis M Harrington, and shouted to the audience, "If you were in a synagogue, would you have invited Hitler?"

The audience chorused, "No, no, no!"

Mrs. Hicks, a former chairman of the school committee which is the governing body of the Boston public schools, has been adamantly opposed to the demands of hundreds of Negro parents for busing their children away from neighborhood schools which they assert are overcrowded and inadequate in teaching facilities

About 20 policemen in plain clothes moved to the stage, surrounded Mrs. Hicks and escorted her to an office. Later she left the school with a police bodyguard. Diplomas were then distributed in the pupils' home rooms.

Wood was carried out of the school by detectives and released on the street.

Police were assigned to the school after it was announced Mrs. Hicks would be the speaker and reports came that a demonstration was planned

Unhappy Celler Panel Skirts Housing Issue

Washington (AP)—A House judiciary subcommittee, unhappy at administration negotiations with Republicans on a proposed open housing law, Thursday ducked a test vote on the issue

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., ordered the controversial section of the administration's civil rights bill sent to the full judiciary committee without recommendation, and criticized Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach for reportedly discussing changes in the proposal with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen Wednesday.

The administration is wooing Dirksen, whose refusal to support a ban on racial discrimination in housing threatens to kill its chances in the Senate

Celler said the subcommittee had no knowledge of what new approaches Katzenbach might have made to Dirksen, and so was unable to act on the housing provision.

Reply

Katzenbach replied in a statement of his own that he met with Dirksen at the senator's request, and he added: "While various alternatives to the language of several titles were suggested, no new approaches for any title were formulated, drafted, or agreed upon"

The House subcommittee approved the other sections of the bill, which are designed to bar discrimination in jury selection, speed school desegregation and afford greater protection of Negroes' rights.

Celler said the full judiciary committee, which he also heads, will take up the bill Tuesday and try to finish acting on it by Friday. He vowed to fight to keep the housing provision intact.

The 77-year-old dean of the House spoke scornfully of the opposition of Dirksen and the possibility the Senate might kill the housing section

"I do not bow down to the shrine of Mr. Dirksen," he said. "And I don't give a tinker's dam what the Senate does. The Senate is not going to overawe us. We're going to overawe the Senate."

Among other Republicans who sat in on the Dirksen-Katzenbach conference was Rep. William McCulloch of Ohio, senior minority member of Celler's committee

Despite Celler's prediction that he has a good chance to retain the housing provision in the full committee, other subcommittee members felt his position had been weakened. Celler has firm support in the 11-member subcommittee, but cannot be sure of a majority of the 35-member full committee on the explosive housing issue

LANSBURY, HOLBROOK WIN TONIES

New York (AP) — Broadway's annual Tony Awards for stellar acting were won Thursday by Angela Lansbury and Richard Kiley for musical roles, and by Rosemary Harris and Hal Holbrook for dramatic performances.

Cited as the best musical was "Man of La Mancha," and as the best play, "Marat-Sade." Of the 16 silver medallions awarded in various categories, "La Mancha" got five and the drama got four.

Miss Lansbury, who stars in the hit "Mame," was the most emotional winner Her voice quavered and tears filled her eyes as she gulped thanks.

Miss Harris received her trophy for portrayal of a medieval queen in "The Lion in Winter." Holbrook was honored for his one-man show "Mark Twain, Tonight!"

"It is usually customary to thank people on such occasions," said Holbrook, "and I want to thank a whole lot—the people in Wahoo, Neb., Texas, Waycross, Ga., and other towns across the country who saw my show before it reached New York."

Kiley's award was for his work in "Man of La Mancha," in which he enacts Don Quixote and Miguel Cervantes.

Civil Rightist Breaks Up Graduation

Boston (AP) — A civil rights leader broke up a junior high school graduation Thursday by rushing the stage where a school committee member, Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, was sitting.

The school population is dominantly Negro.

He was the Rev. Virgil Wood, president of the Massachusetts unit of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

He grabbed a microphone away from the school principal, Francis M. Harrington, and shouted to the audience, "If you were in a synagogue, would you have invited Hitler?"

The audience chorused, "No, no, no!"

Mrs. Hicks, a former chairman of the school committee which is the governing body of the Boston public schools, has been adamantly opposed to the demands of hundreds of Negro parents for busing their children away from neighborhood schools which they assert are overcrowded and inadequate in teaching facilities.

About 20 policemen in plain clothes moved to the stage, surrounded Mrs. Hicks and escorted her to an office. Later she left the school with a police bodyguard. Diplomas were then distributed in the pupils' home rooms.

Wood was carried out of the school by detectives and released on the street.

Police were assigned to the school after it was announced Mrs. Hicks would be the speaker and reports came that a demonstration was planned.

Unhappy Celler Panel Skirts Housing Issue

Washington (AP)—A House judiciary subcommittee, unhappy at administration negotiations with Republicans on a proposed open housing law, Thursday ducked a test vote on the issue.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., ordered the controversial section of the administration's civil rights bill sent to the full judiciary committee without recommendation, and criticized Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach for reportedly discussing changes in the proposal with Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen Wednesday.

The administration is wooing Dirksen, whose refusal to support a ban on racial discrimination in housing threatens to kill its chances in the Senate.

Celler said the subcommittee had no knowledge of what new approaches Katzenbach might have made to Dirksen, and so was unable to act on the housing provision.

Reply

Katzenbach replied in a statement of his own that he met with Dirksen at the senator's request, and he added: "While various alternatives to the language of several titles were suggested, no new approaches for any title were formulated, drafted, or agreed upon."

The House subcommittee approved the other sections of the bill, which are designed to bar discrimination in jury selection, speed school desegregation and afford greater protection of Negroes' rights.

Celler said the full judiciary committee, which he also heads, will take up the bill Tuesday and try to finish acting on it by Friday. He vowed to fight to keep the housing provision intact.

The 77-year-old dean of the House spoke scornfully of the opposition of Dirksen and the possibility the Senate might kill the housing section.

"I do not bow down to the shrine of Mr. Dirksen," he said. "And I don't give a tinker's dam what the Senate does. The Senate is not going to overawe us. We're going to overawe the Senate."

Among other Republicans who sat in on the Dirksen-Katzenbach conference was Rep. William McCulloch of Ohio, senior minority member of Celler's committee.

Despite Celler's prediction that he has a good chance to retain the housing provision in the full committee, other subcommittee members felt his position had been weakened. Celler has firm support in the 11-member subcommittee, but cannot be sure of a majority of the 35-member full committee on the explosive housing issue.

LANSBURY, HOLBROOK WIN TONIES

New York (AP) — Broadway's annual Tony Awards for stellar acting were won Thursday by Angela Lansbury and Richard Kiley for musical roles, and by Rosemary Harris and Hal Holbrook for dramatic performances.

Cited as the best musical was "Man of La Mancha," and as the best play, "Marat-Sade." Of the 16 silver medallions awarded in various categories, "La Mancha" got five and the drama got four.

Miss Lansbury, who stars in the hit "Mame," was the most emotional winner. Her voice quavered and tears filled her eyes as she gulped thanks.

Miss Harris received her trophy for portrayal of a medieval queen in "The Lion in Winter." Holbrook was honored for his one-man show "Mark Twain, Tonight!"

"It is usually customary to thank people on such occasions," said Holbrook, "and I want to thank a whole lot—the people in Wahoo, Neb., Texas, Waycross, Ga., and other towns across the country who saw my show before it reached New York."

Kiley's award was for his work in "Man of La Mancha," in which he enacts Don Quixote and Miguel Cervantes.
